

KLAN BATTLE RESTS WITH DELEGATES

Flames Sweep Rich State Timber Lands

HUGE FIRE FATAL TO ONE MAN

Over 200,000 Acres of Valuable Range and Forest in Blaze Grip

STARVING CATTLE FACE NEW PERILS

Fighters Helpless As Barriers Fail to Check Spread of Fires

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Eight separate fires of varying magnitude were attacking drought stricken timber and range land in Central and Northern California today.

More than a quarter of a million acres already have been burned over, some of it valuable forest land, at least one person has lost his life, many cattle and quantities of deer and other animals were reported driven from their haunts, and hundreds of men fought, apparently futilely, to stem the sweep of the fires.

Alex Ross, caretaker of the San Francisco Fly Casting club, which burned at Union Mills, near Truckee, Wednesday, died late yesterday in a Reno, Nev., hospital from burns. He attempted to save the contents of the building.

Sweeps Timber Land

The worst blaze swept in three directions east of the Mount Hamilton range, burning over valuable range land in Santa Clara county, destroying quantities of precious feed for already half starved cattle, destroying scores of campers and ranchers as they fled to safety.

The fire was burning apparently with unabated fury today after a week's activity and already has swept more than 200,000 acres, according to reliable estimates. Rangers report the fire to be the worst in that section in recent years.

Seven other fires, reported yesterday to be under control, broke out again over night, according to advices received here.

The fire in the vicinity of General Grant National Forest has leaped fire lines and once more is threatening the park's fine stand of timber.

Jumps Fire Barriers

A small blaze in the Diablo range was still burning, but was not considered of dangerous proportions, nor was the fire near Santa Cruz which has almost burned itself out.

In Shasta county, a dangerous fire was burning toward the Trinity county line in merchantable timber, disregarding barriers erected by an active force of fighters.

In Plumas, Lassen and Nevada counties fires which broke out Monday were reported to have diminished in ferocity.

Wives Of Chief Candidates Get Huge Thrill Out Of Convention

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—Whether it is East side or West side, the wives of presidential candidates aren't always twain.

So it was when Mrs. Alfred E. Smith and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo met at the Democratic national convention and sat in adjoining boxes to watch the enthusiastic supporters of their husbands for the nomination of president of the United States.

Seek Populist Help For Third Party

CLEVELAND, O., June 27.—A call summoning supporters of the old Populist party of the nineties to the "third party" political convention here July 4 was issued today by La Follette supporters.

It was a definite move in the program by the conference for progressive political action, sponsoring the third party meeting to unite all the progressive groups of the nation behind Senator Robert M. La Follette for his independent race for the presidency.

SAYS DOCTOR LEFT SPONGE IN HER BODY

Louisiana Woman Files Suit Against Prominent Surgeon Asking $16,996 Damages.

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 27. James I. Peters, prominent local surgeon, was called into district court here today to answer charges he left part of his operating equipment in a patient's abdomen after an operation.

Mrs. R. S. Roark, plaintiff in the suit, is seeking $16,996, asserting the doctor failed to remove a sponge from her abdomen after operating upon her.

WALTER HAGEN WINS BRITISH GOLF CROWN

(By United Press Leased Wire)

HOY LAKE, England, June 27.—Walter Hagen, American golfer, today won the British open golf championship after playing sensational golf in the final rounds.

Hagen's superiority on the last eighteen holes aided in winning the coveted title. He went out in 41 and on the return trip turned in three 4's. Hagen's score for the 72 hole match was 301.

Court Rules Out Bonus Test Suit

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The suit to test the constitutionality of the bonus was thrown out of court here today.

Justice Stafford of the District of Columbia supreme court ruled today that Joseph W. Pendergast, who asked for an injunction because he was a taxpayer, had not sufficiently direct interests in the bonus.

smile told what she thought of the party. "It's just grand," she kept repeating as the excited crowds passed by the box for nearly an hour.

"I'm too thrilled for words," said Emily, the governor's youngest debutante daughter. "It's a much bigger thrill than when Dad was elected governor."

Miss Margaret Wilson attended the convention the day that Mr. McAdoo's name was presented but she was not to be seen yesterday.

Miss May Kennedy of the Bronx received almost as much of an ovation as a candidate when she was presented as the new vice chairman of the convention. She made a pretty little speech and was numerous photographs. Miss Kennedy is the first woman ever to be vice chairman of a convention.

WARNS JAPAN TO BEWARE OF QUAKE

TOKIO, June 27.—Predictions of an earthquake of great violence shaking Eastern Japan, particularly the region of Choshi and Kyushu, were made today by Professor Nakamura, noted seismologist.

Nakamura's announcement said he "regretted the necessity of predicting" the earthquake but that scientific observations made it certain to him that such a disturbance is coming.

COURT DELAYS SENSATIONAL FILM SUIT

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—The secrets of Hollywood, scheduled to be revealed when Ann Luther's $100,000 suit against Jock White, mining man, is tried, will not be heard before August 4. The case came up in Judge Valentine's court today and by agreement on both sides was postponed until the August date.

Miss Luther is seeking the money, claiming White agreed to star her in pictures and, after making a trip from New York to Los Angeles in a compartment with her, backed out of the contract.

Small Fuel Saving Means Millions to Railroads in Year

CHICAGO, June 27.—Two hundred thousand trout fry, hauled on mule back to the head waters of streams in the Sierras, were planted in Washoe county, Nevada, during one month, according to the report of George I. James, county game warden. Owing to the extreme lowness of the water it was decided to protect the fry by depositing them at the very head waters of the streams.

Starting a legal battle to recover approximately $24,000 which they claim to have invested in stock of the defunct Pacific corporation, with holdings at Signal Hill, fifteen Orange county stockholders, represented by one of their number, John Mangold, today filed suit in the superior court here against the corporation, its officials, and the Bank of Italy.

RICH MAN ORDERS $5000,000 TOMB

NEW YORK, June 27.—John E. Andrus, former representative of Yonkers, rated as one of the country's 15 richest men, has ordered a mausoleum, to be one of the most elaborate in the world, built in Kensico.

According to his friends, the mausoleum is to cost between $350,000 and $500,000. Neither Mr. Andrus nor the designers would make a statement, so the exact contract price cannot be made public. However, experts familiar with monuments and mausoleums say that it is to be larger and more elaborate as well as more costly than the mausoleum of William Rockefeller in Sleepy Hollow.

Day's Session Marked By Nomination of Long List of Favorite Sons

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—After an all-day session during which the delegates were regaled with a long line of nominating and seconding speeches, while the committee on resolutions was tangled up in a continuation of the fight on the Ku Klux Klan plank in the platform, the Democratic National convention adjourned shortly before 6 o'clock this evening until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Adjournment was forced by the fact that the resolutions committee could not complete its work on the platform in time to report to the convention tonight.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—A fight on the convention floor over the Klan was made certain this afternoon when the sub-committee drafting the Democratic platform voted 10 to 4 to submit a plank to the full committee denouncing the principles of the Klan but not naming it. The quartet demanding that the Klan be named will submit a minority report and the flood gates of debate will then be open.

CALIF. TENNIS STAR WINNER IN ENGLAND

WIMBLEDON, England, June 27.—The American champion, Helen Willis, moved up another step in the championship tennis play here today by eliminating Mrs. Edington, 6-2, 6-2.

The young Californian's game is improving rapidly and she smashed her way through two sets today with comparative ease.

Williams and Mrs. Wightman defeated Ruppell and Mrs. Weston in the mixed doubles 6-0, 6-3, while S. Condon and Mrs. Mallory had no trouble in beating G. Leembruggen and Mrs. Stebbing, 6-3, 6-0.

In the other mixed doubles the American team of Francis Hunter and Lillian Scharman had little trouble beating V. Burr and Miss Holcroft. The match score was 10-8, 6-3.

Ravings Of Near Insane Woman Cause Mate's Arrest As Slayer

(By United Press Leased Wire)

MARYSVILLE, Cal., June 27.—Betrayed to the police by the ravings of a near insane wife whose reason was snapping under the strain of knowing the secrets of two murderers, both of whom she had married, Alfred Bollinger was held today to answer for killing Alex Summers near here last April.

Mrs. Bollinger was taken to the county hospital at Sacramento several days ago, her health broken. In delirious ravings she hinted at the crime committed by her husband and his arrest followed. Bollinger is said to have confessed killing Summers with an axe following a quarrel while the three were camped on a slough near here.

Day's Doings In N. Y. Told in Brief

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—Convention called to order 11:41 by Chairman Walsh. Invocation by Rev. Dwight Wylie of New York.

William J. Quinn of St. Paul, seconded the nomination of Gov. Al Smith.

Former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker placed in nomination for the presidency, James H. Cox of Ohio.

William H. Maloney of Montana seconded the nomination of Gov. Al Smith.

Gov. Samuel Stewart of Montana seconded the nomination of W. G. McAdoo.

Eugene D. O'Sullivan of Omaha placed Governor Charles Bryan, brother of William J. Bryan into nomination.

John A. Matthews placed the name of Governor Selzer of New Jersey before the convention.

Elmer H. Geran of Matamoras, N. J., was recognized and in a short speech seconded Silzer's nomination.

J. F. T. O'Connor of North Dakota, seconded the nomination of W. G. McAdoo.

Mrs. Carol Miller of Pennsylvania seconded the nomination of Gov. Al Smith.

Mrs. Carroll Miller, Pennsylvania, seconded Smith.

Samuel E. Schuelk, of Pennsylvania, seconded the nomination of Underwood.

BAKER TO INSIST ON LEAGUE PLANK

Day's Session Marked By Nomination of Long List of Favorite Sons

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—After an all-day session during which the delegates were regaled with a long line of nominating and seconding speeches, while the committee on resolutions was tangled up in a continuation of the fight on the Ku Klux Klan plank in the platform, the Democratic National convention adjourned shortly before 6 o'clock this evening until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Adjournment was forced by the fact that the resolutions committee could not complete its work on the platform in time to report to the convention tonight.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—A fight on the convention floor over the Klan was made certain this afternoon when the sub-committee drafting the Democratic platform voted 10 to 4 to submit a plank to the full committee denouncing the principles of the Klan but not naming it. The quartet demanding that the Klan be named will submit a minority report and the flood gates of debate will then be open.

A floor fight on the League is also certain. Former Secretary of War Baker will not consent to any change in his proposal that the League be endorsed and that the party be pledged to America's entrance. The sub-committee is presenting this question to the full committee but Baker declares that, if his plank is not adopted as it stands he will make a minority report and take the floor to fight his principles.

Because the platform was not yet ready to report, the convention leaders, according to David Rockwell, manager for W. G. McAdoo, agreed this afternoon to take an adjournment after the nominating speeches were completed until tomorrow morning.

Chairman Cummings of the resolutions committee, this afternoon, expressed the opinion that there was little likelihood of the platform being ready for presentation this evening. Cummings then suggested that the convention proceed with the casting of ballots tonight and that he would then have the platform ready at 9 o'clock in the morning. His committee, Cummings said, would then interrupt the balloting to present its report.

Discussing the "league plank," Cummings said: "The first proposal is a bold, unadorned, explicit declaration for America's entrance in the league. The second deals with the subject as a fundamental idea of international politics only.

"The third idea for a referendum is now in the background. We are so close, however, that we may be able to reach an agreement in the full committee."

The dark horses and favorite sons had their day in the convention today as runner up to the big Smith show of yesterday. Former Gov. Cox of Ohio and others who were presented, were accorded demonstrations of varying intensity but none approached the blow off staged for either McAdoo or Smith.

Meantime, Tom Taggart of Indiana was moving about smiling and confident that Senator Sam Ralston will be the nominee.

Meantime a canvass of several delegations seemed to give support to Taggart's claim that he has promises of a good supply of votes from other states when they have fulfilled their obligations on early ballots.

Chairman Walsh slammed down his gavel calling for order at 11:41. The galleries were only partially filled when quiet was obtained and Walsh introduced Rev. Dwight W. Wylie, pastor of Central Presbyterian church of

KLAN WAR RESTS WITH DELEGATES

New York, to deliver the invocation.

After a few announcements by the secretary the call of the roll of states for nominations and seconds was resumed.

Minnesota led off in the person of William J. Quinn of St. Paul, who seconded the nomination of Al Smith.

Nominates Cox

Mississippi yielded to Ohio. There was an outburst of applause as it was realized the standard bearer of four years ago was about to be placed in nomination.

Newton D. Baker mounted the platform and virtually all the delegates on the floor arose to their feet and cheered. From the fact that Mississippi yielded to Ohio and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, the keynote, was one of the Cox floor leaders at San Francisco four years ago, it was believed generally that Harrison had decided to line up with Cox again.

The addition of his influence to the Cox boom would be of inestimable value to the Ohioan.

Baker's speech was frequently interrupted by handclapping. His first mention of the League of Nations brought a sharp outbreak of cheering, handclapping and finally, one after another, the delegations with the exception of Wisconsin, rose to their feet, waved flags and applauded.

Denounced Klan

Baker denounced the klan and brought a number of the delegations to their feet but it was not anything like the tempestuous outbreak of two days ago, when the klan was named for the first time before the convention.

There was much spontaneous applause of Baker's remarks by individual members of many delegations.

George Brennan came into the hall at 12:30, shook hands with a number of delegates as he made his way to his seat and passed the word that he doubted if there would be any balloting for the nominees until after the resolutions committee had reported.

As Baker completed his speech, a rush was made to the Ohio standard to head a parade. Edmond H. Moore of Cleveland, who defeated W. W. Durbin, of Kenton for national committeeman, gave the order not to permit the Ohio standard to be moved. Durbin sent his son, Francis Durbin, "to take the standard into the parade at any cost."

Former Governors James E. Campbell and Judson Harmon took their stand beside the standard and made plain that they would guard it. Durbin rushed up and cried "give me that standard or I'll take it away from you."

Campbell called to a policeman to aid in protecting the standard and to remove young Durbin from the delegation.

Durbin objected and was finally ejected from the floor of the convention. William H. Maloney of Montana, in a seven word seconding speech for Smith, made a great hit, although his hoarseness resulting from yesterday's demonstration made his voice inaudible to all but a few. He said: "I second the nomination of Governor Smith."

Mrs. Carol Miller of Pennsylvania made a decided hit with her speech.

"My father's family were Methodists," she began. "My mother was a Presbyterian. And I married an Episcopalian. Some of my best friends are Jews. My oldest son was born in Japan in the shadow of a Buddhist temple."

"And here I have the privilege of seconding the name of a man who worships God in still another form. During the World War we were neither Jew nor Gentile; Catholic or Protestant."

"We were all Americans, fighting as brothers for the common cause of humanity."

Nominates Smith.

"Righteousness springs from the heart—from the divinity that is within us and made manifest by the service we render to others."

"Because of this tenderness of his mother, the devotion of his wife and children, the conviction of his public life to the welfare of his fellow men, because of his untarnished honesty and courage, I know this man to be one who has completely built his life upon the ten commandments, and the teachings of his lord and master."

"Therefore, as a true Christian and true American, I second the nomination of Alfred E. Smith."

Attendance Falls

In the first place it cuts 10 minutes from the class hour which begins at 9 o'clock. Under the schedule which has existed on the hill for the several past years, this period has ended at 9:45 o'clock and the next class begun at 10:10 o'clock, the intervening 25 minutes being used for the "chapel hour."

This cut the 9 o'clock period below the standard 50 minutes specified by the various boards and opened Syracuse credits to question if the students desired to transfer to another college.

Attendance Falls

In the second place it is pointed out that the attendance at chapel services has been falling steadily during the past few years, the average attendance being below 100. Opponents of the present system argue that less frequent services would increase the attendance and prevent the great loss of time which now exists.

The New York State College of Forestry, which is an integral part of the university, has refused to recognize the existence of the "chapel hour" and the past two terms has arranged its class schedules as though it did not exist.

This has led to confusion when forestry students enroll in colleges other than their own.

At present other colleges of the university are considering abandoning the hour. The matter was recently discussed by the business administration faculty, but no action has yet been announced.

Wants It Preserved

Vice Chancellor William P. Graham declared that the administration has not yet considered taking any action upon the matter.

"The custom is a fine one," Dr. Graham said, "and I would like to see it preserved."

STUDENTS URGE ALIEN RUNNING UNIVERSITY TO END CHAPEL IS TRACED TO INDIAN BAND

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 27.—

Agitation has been renewed at Syracuse university for the abolishment of the famous "chapel hour," which has been a cherished institution since the very founding of the university as a Methodist college.

Opponents of the "chapel hour" point out that its existence works to the disadvantage of the university in several ways.

In the first place it cuts 10 minutes from the class hour which begins at 9 o'clock. Under the schedule which has existed on the hill for the several past years, this period has ended at 9:45 o'clock and the next class begun at 10:10 o'clock, the intervening 25 minutes being used for the "chapel hour."

arrested for unlawful entry into this country. Upon questioning he admitted he had paid 25 cents to an Indian lad to be rowed from Cornwall to Hogansburg.

Not only are the Indians proving troublesome as alien smugglers, however, for during the past few days several large bands of Irishmen are reported to have been smuggled across the Canadian boundary line and sent to cities where they have friends who will shield them from inquiring inspectors.

Irish Band Landed.

These Irishmen are known to have landed in Halifax or Quebec and to have made their way to Montreal in groups. They are said to have engaged Montreal taxi drivers to land them at the border for $30 a head. From the border those who were successful made their way south through their own resourcefulness.

Immigration inspectors working out of the Malone office recently captured part of a large band of Irishmen, who made their way across the border in this manner. While each of those taken stubbornly denied they were trying to smuggle themselves into the United States, after considerable questioning they told the officers, it is said, details of the scheme which all followed in their effort to evade immigration laws.

According to the story of several taken recently, aliens are constantly struggling down the highways of the state, riding in trains and being carried by automobiles, all bound for New York City, where friendly countrymen await them.

Boats, investigation shows, ply the dangerous waters with passengers who are apt to be anything from visiting Indians or Canadians, to dope peddlers, booze smugglers or European aliens, who seek admission to the United States via the underground route.

Aliens appearing before the United States commissioners in the northern part of the state tell stories which appear to verify the declaration of Indians that "we take 'um for what we get," meaning that if an alien has plenty of money the fare across the river under cover of darkness will be high, but if he has little money the fare will be small. In fact, members of the tribe declare many foreigners are being brought into this country for as low as 25 cents a head, and this statement is corroborated by a young alien just

Movie Chatterbox

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

Watching Harold Lloyd and his petite leading lady, Johy-a Ralston, give an animated conjugation of the verb, To Love, in filming his new domestic farce, gave me to understand how hard life may be on a movie comedian.

He can't make love like your earnest gallant of serious drama. He's got to make love and be funny at the same time—which isn't so easy for the screen as in real life.

Your languishing reel Romeo or cashing Lochinvar need not be tenderly graceful or impetuous to sustain his reputation as star. The comedian, on the other hand, must stir giggles rather than sighs with his amours.

Hence, while the latter may get bodies of fan letters, he gets few, if any, gush notes. Who ever thinks of him as a romantic hero? And what is life without a modicum of gushes? What, indeed?

However, I maintain that Harold Lloyd is, in what he puts into pictures, the typical great, ordinary American beau. I say that with deep conviction after seeing him making his new film. He makes love (not in earnest, of course, since his heart belongs to his lovely wife, Mildred Davis) as if it were a pleasure instead of a tragedy.

IMPORTING TO BE TAUGHT AT COLLEGE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 27.—In response to the interest shown by importers, a retail buyers, and manufacturers, the Harvard Business school is adding importing to its foreign trade courses.

This course, which will be offered next year for the first time by Prof. G. B. Roorbach, is to be organized on the "case system". Actual cases and problems of the importing business are being collected for the course through the co-operation of interested business men.

The course treats importing from three points of view: The significance of importing to the economic and commercial welfare of the United States; importing as related to the individual manufacturer, merchant and broker; and importing as a specialized business, management and methods will be stressed.

Five Schoolboys Agree to Commit Suicide, One Dies

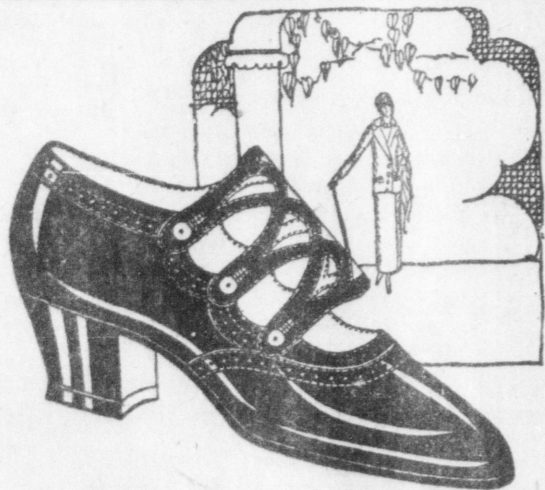

PONTIAC, Mich., June 27.—A suicide pact among five prominent high school boys, humiliated by a teacher's reprimand, startled the city. Three of the boys backed down, another attempted his life, while the fifth, Joseph Muse, 15, carried through his resolve, dying a few minutes after he had swallowed poison.

Gerald Hale, 15, took poison into his mouth, but a moment later ran screaming to his mother after spitting the poison to the floor. The other three, whose names school authorities would not disclose, did not attempt to carry out the agreement, either under the impression that Muse, known as "Moody," was joking or through fear.

News Briefs

Increasing building activity in Santa Ana was evidenced today by the issuance of five building permits. Glenn Wiley, 616 North Howard avenue, secured a permit for the construction of a five-room residence and garage at 1417 South Parton street, at a cost of $3500. The board of education was granted permission to spend $2100 for alterations and additions at the Jefferson school, Seventeen and Ross streets.

Weather Report Helps Youth in Auto Crash Case

STOCKTON, June 27.—Frank Rossi, Stockton youth, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, was acquitted here by a jury in Superior Judge D. M. Young's court. The jury deliberated for about two hours. Rossi was charged after a machine he was driving struck a small girl as she was returning home from school, breaking both her legs. Rossi admitted details of the accident, but denied he was drunk. Weather records played an interesting part in the trial. The defense claimed the pavement was wet at the time of the accident and the rear end of his car skidded and struck the girl. The prosecution claimed the highway was dry and the accident was due to the driver's recklessness. E. P. Higby, local weather observer, testified that on the day of the accident the weather was "cloudy" and .14 inch of rain fell.

NATIONAL PARKS ESSENTIAL, IS SOLON'S VIEW

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., June 27.—Yellowstone and other national parks are not alone national assets—they are national necessities, and ought to be regarded by the appropriation committees in better and truer Americanism, Senator Tasker L. Oddie of Nevada said here today, as he and Mrs. Oddie set out on a month's vacation in the park. "If congress could meet in the Yellowstone, we should have better laws and saner counsels," said Senator Oddie. "That idea may sound fantastic, but I am serious. If capital and labor, deadlocked in some dispute, could bring their differences to the counsel table here in this wonderful place, we should have fewer strikes and a far better understanding between the captains of industry and the men in the ranks. "The national park idea has only begun to be understood by the people of this country. When it comes to be fully appreciated, Yellowstone will not hold the people who will come each year to see its wonders and to have their bodies literally resurrected in the revitalizing air. It ought to be made possible for the people who live in the squalor of Chicago and New York slums to come here. It ought to be made possible somehow for every one who lives in America to come here. No one who does come, but goes away a better American."

Senator Oddie referred to the fact that Yellowstone park is practically self supporting now. "I don't believe we should expect the national parks—any of them—to support themselves," the senator said. "Of course, no one favors squandering money, but the manner in which our parks are administered does away with the danger. Every vestige of that danger. Every dollar congress appropriates for Yellowstone is a distinct investment in a better and truer Americanism. Every member of congress ought to visit this park. They would all go back to increase the appropriations, and to see to it that the highways leading to Yellowstone are improved and maintained properly, through a maximum of federal co-operation with the sparsely settled western states."

Senator Oddie will tour the park as a rest cure following a strenuous winter's work in the senate. He and Mrs. Oddie have no schedule. "The ideal way to see Yellowstone, in my opinion," he said, "is to go along loafing, without being tied to any set program. That's the way we are going to spend the month."

LEGION WILL SEEK NEW BORDER LAWS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—A resolution seeking to close borders of the United States against smuggling of immigrants will be one of the big subjects of discussion at the sixth annual state convention of the American Legion to be held at Santa Cruz, August 4 to 7, inclusive. The Legion resolutions committee is now at work drafting a proposed law that will be submitted to Congress, it is stated. Since the immigration act of 1924 was passed which decreases the number of foreigners from each country entering the United States, the point has been raised that smuggling may develop on a large scale at the boundary line between Mexico and the states on the south. Just how the process of control over the alleged smuggling could be gained is not made public by the committee. A resolution is being prepared by the Rehabilitation committee to take care of the alleged defects in the recently passed Reed-Johnson bill, which has to do with hospitalization and the United States Veterans' Bureau. It is announced through the legion that the State Veterans' Welfare Board is purchasing homes at the rate of two-day for veterans.

AIR IMMIGRATION, IS WORD BY LEGION

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—In preparation for the sixth annual state convention of the American Legion to be held at Santa Cruz, August 4-7 inclusive, state committees are beginning the compilation of reports to be presented at the convention, out of which will come the resolutions to be passed. The rehabilitation committee is preparing a resolution to take care of all the defects now seen in the new Reed-Johnson bill. It is being prepared by A. E. Graupner, chairman of the rehabilitation committee for the state of California as well as for the 12th district. The Americanization committee is preparing a number of resolutions on Americanization and immigration. One of the most important will be a resolution to close American borders against possible smuggling of immigrants, as a result of the new immigration law.

Watch the Alien

The immigration law recently passed by congress is a highly restrictive measure. It will limit the number of aliens admissible to America to about 50 per cent of the total eligible for entrance under the 3 per cent quota law. There is no legislation, however, that enables the government or any other agency to keep track of the aliens who may come to America and of those already here. And that, for several reasons, seems desirable.

A plan of alien registration has been urged by Secretary Davis of the department of labor for several years. Secretary Davis now says approval of the plan in suitable legislation will be asked early in the next session of congress. The proposal calls for payment of a small fee by the alien at the time of registration. The objection that has been made to this requirement is answered in the fact that the amount of the fee would not make it a burden on anyone affected and the benefits to the alien himself from the registration system would be considerable.

It has been made clear in the explanations of this proposed plan that no alien police system is to be set up. Nor is it intended that the alien shall be under constant surveillance by government or other authorities. The registration plan is advanced as a possibly effective check on the smuggling of aliens into this country, particularly from Mexico. The alien, under this plan, would be required to show his registration card upon demand. It would serve as a means of identification, also of protection. It could be used as proof of eligibility to citizenship. The registration plan, in which local and school authorities would co-operate, would aid, it is held, in Americanization work and in other needed service to those who are new to America and consequently under appreciable handicaps.

The complaint often has been made, sometimes by the alien himself, that newcomers in America have been exploited by unscrupulous individuals and interests. With a direct relationship established between the alien and the constituted authorities, the traditional system of haphazard or unjust treatment of the foreigner, together with the disinclination of some aliens to become American citizens, would be changed. Alien registration would be an effective supplement to restrictive immigration.—Kansas City Star.

Set Pin American Session For Dec.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Pan American union officials announced here today that they had received word from the government of Peru that the opening date of the third Pan American scientific congress, originally fixed for November 16, has been postponed to December 20. No reason for the postponement was contained in the despatch from Lima, but it is probably due, they said, to changes in the plans for the celebration of the centenary of the Battle of Ayacucho, which will take place in December.

The congress to be held at Lima in December will be the third time that scientists and educators of all the American republics have gathered for the special purpose of discussing means of bringing about closer cultural and economic ties between the countries of the Western Hemisphere. The second Pan American congress was held at Washington in 1915, at which time delegates from all the American republics were in attendance. The first congress of this character was held at Santiago, Chile, in 1908.

In the Realm Of Society

Hilarity Reigns When Chosen Adjectives Are Read Aloud

A congenial company of young people met for a pleasant birthday surprise on Miss Ruby Dodd at her home on East First street, Wednesday evening and presented her with a number of lovely gifts.

After the various games planned for the evening had been enjoyed, the hostess, Miss Linnie Dodd, asked each guest to contribute an adjective for the completion of a paper previously prepared, the purpose of which she refused to divulge until all the adjectives were duly inserted.

When this had been done, Miss Dodd read aloud the story of the evening's fun with the carefully sprinkled adjectives yielding a surprising and most amusing result. It even told of the prize awards in contests with Miss Ruby Dodd winning the "fickle prize" of a "romantic" salt and pepper set, "miserable" Dan Lan Franco winning a "diplomatic" doll; Jack Wilson winning a "funny" incense burner and Miss Gladys Sitton, an "abnormal" glass dog.

Refreshments were served at a late hour to the guests who were named as the adjectives fell, as the "fearful" hostess, Miss Linnie Dodd, the "snub-nosed" honoree, Miss Ruby Dodd, "clubfooted" Bertha Fitzgerald, "stewed" Ruby Curley, "webfooted" Gladys Sitton, "drunken" Margaret Showalter, "op-eared" Thelma Hanlon, and the "silver-tongued" Grace McCament. The young men present were "block-headed" Pat Kelly, "jazzy" Dan Lan Franco, "blind" Austen Garrit, "henpecked" Jack Wilson, "baldheaded" Henry Klass, and "shiny-nosed" Carl Dodd.

S. A. Laundry Folk Hold Gay Party

Proving to be most entertaining hosts, the men of the Southern Service club of the Santa Ana laundry last night entertained the women employed at dinner and a merry evening in Orange county park. All details of the meal were planned and carried out by the hosts who proved to be excellent diners and served the appetizing dinner with much skill.

A brief business meeting following the occasion was really the June meeting of the club. Games of all kinds then offered a merry interval ere the party broke up, more interested than ever in the July meeting at Laguna Beach when the success of last night will be duplicated according to the committee in charge.

It was reported that two of the club "standbys," C. W. Burns and F. T. Tappan were unable to be present on account of illness. Members and friends who were there included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Acken, the Misses Edith and Hor-tense Barrios, Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. "A. J." Brecken-ridge, Clarence Crosby, Miss Do-reen Cox, George Riley Cox, the Misses Hazel and Irene Collum, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle, Ross Force, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Garrison, Master Robert Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. Gillaspay, Mr. and Mrs. J. Head, Mrs. Adella Hemlinway, H. H. Hast, Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Al Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schul, William Tidball, Ralph Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. P. ter, Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wilson, Royce, Miss Evangeline Wolford, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Wurster.

SERRA PILGRIMAGE PLANS ARE BARED

MONTEREY, June 27.—An- nouncement as made today of the personnel of the committees to stage the Junipero Serra pilgrimage here October 12 to 19, reveals a glittering array of famous authors, artists and sculptors planning for the festival week which will com- memorate the mission founder's death at Carmel, and the unveiling of a monumental sarcophagus to his memory.

Active workers on varied details and committees of the pilgrimage festival, listed by Carmel Martin, chairman of the executive commit- tee, include Harry Leon Wilson, Gouverneur Morris, Frederick R. Becholdt, Charles K. Field, Char- les F. Lummis, Peter B. Kyne, Robert Wells Ritchie, Samuel G. Blythe, Stewart Edward White, Charles King VanRiper, Talbert Josselyn, Charles W. Norris, and Perry Newberry—authors; Francis McComas, Percy Gray, Domo Vale, Marcy Woods, W. C. Clothier, Watts—artists; Jo Mora, sculptor.

With this group devoting its tal- ent to the festival plans, backed by all the writing, editorial and ar- tistic talent concentrated in the Carmel-by-the-Sea colony and scat- tered over the peninsula, the Serra pilgrimage, it is predicted here, will center national attention on Mon- te-rey next October.

State Board Buys House for 'Vets'

SACRAMENTO, June 27.—The California state veterans' welfare board is purchasing homes for veterans of the World war at the rate of two a day, according to a report recently sent to the state department headquarters of the American Legion.

Wedding Anniversary Of Two Hostesses Is Celebrated

A happy celebration of two wed- ding anniversaries was held last night at the R. R. Hall home at 613 South Garnsey when Mr. and Mrs. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. William Schenck of Orange entertained a congenial group of friends at bridge in honor of their joint wed- ding date.

Dahlias in a variety of lovely colors formed the decorative motif in the pretty home. Three tables were arranged for bridge and at the close of the games, at- tractive prizes for high score were awarded Mrs. James Parker and Mr. Wolven while Mr. Parker was consoled for scoring low.

At a late hour a delectable lit- tle supper of fruit salad and sandwiches with ices, cake and coffee for the second course, was served for the guests who included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wolven, Mr. and Mrs. James Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Miles E. Hill, Miss Gwendolyn Hoyle and Bruce Bliger.

Fashion Show at Colonial Club

Those who dine tonight at Col- onial Club on North Main street, will have added to the charm of an old-time Southern dinner, the enjoyment of a brilliant little af- fair which the club hostesses are offering from 6:30 to 9 o'clock on the spacious lawns surrounding the pretty colonial place.

This will be a fashion show in which a group of attractive girls, many of them members of the 1924 graduating class from Poly- technic High school, will have part. Frocks will be from the Ap- plebaum Specialty Shop and even details of hair-dressing will be shown through the courtesy of the Jordis-Helene Beauty parlors.

The latest New York whims in hair-dressing, a white spun-glass transformation, will be worn by Miss Mary Frances Sargent while the smart, little Doris wave will be shown by Miss Alice Noe.

The young women taking part will be the Misses Helen Smiley, Alice Olive Foley, Elizabeth Beall, Italia Pertine, Mabel Pruitt, Inez Noe, Alice Noe, Dora McWa- ters, Betty Waring, Doris Mc- Clain, Cecil Ferguson, Mary Fran- ces Sargent, Ruth Tinsley and Opal Etchison.

Polytechnic Alumnus Weds In Seattle

Friends in this city have received the announcement of a Seattle wedding which will interest many, especially the members of the Santa Ana High school graduating class of 1918, for one of the alumni of that year, Miss Elizabeth Dorothy Dunnayan was wedded on June 21 to William J. Thomsen at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Dunnayan.

The bride with her parents lived in Santa Ana for half a dozen years and formed many warm friendships which still endure. Mr. and Mrs. Thomsen will locate in Seattle where they will be at home to their friends after August 15 at 1524 Thirty-seventh avenue.

L. A. MOVES TO PROTECT ITS LIVESTOCK

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—De- finite steps to foster and protect the livestock industry of Los An- geles county through the agency of a special county department, has been urged upon the board of supervisors by the Chamber of Commerce, according to announce- ment made today.

According to Supervisor McClel- lan, the plan has been favorably received and will undoubtedly be placed in effect.

Through its agricultural and horticultural committee, headed by C. S. Whitcomb, the chamber has outlined a plan for following up the work on the foot and mouth disease which will shortly be required through the necessity of protecting local interests when the federal and state forces now handling the disease are with- drawn from the field.

The plan also includes a regu- lar inspection of the hog plants in the county, where garbage is be- ing fed, to minimize the possibi- lity of any animal contagion spreading through the county or state. It is also pointed out that there has not been a regular vet- erinarian inspection of meat plants in the unincorporated sec- tions of the county and the Uni- ted States department of agri- culture is anxious to have this work taken over by the county.

Control of all importations of milking and breeding cattle into the county, in view of the fact that Los Angeles county normally imports more than 1000 dairy cattle each month and to prevent the possibility of the dumping of culls from herds over the county when the feet and mouth dis- ease bans are lifted, is cited by the Chamber as another reason to rife creation of the suggested county department.

Elm trees around a field are sometimes cut down because they drain strength of the soil.

It is a fallacy that cutting off a man's beard will prevent his head from becoming bald.

Canyon Home Offers Hospitality to Many Friends

Mrs. Lyman Tremaine (Dr. Mabel Vance Tremaine) was host- ess yesterday at her home in the Santa Ana canyon to a large group of friends whom she entertained with a delightful out-of-doors bridge luncheon.

The tables were set under the trees, on the veranda, or else were shaded by gaily-striped beach umbrellas.

At the conclusion of the games, the gifts for high score went to Mrs. Calvin D. Lester of Orange, Mrs. Mark Lacy of Santa Ana was rewarded for holding the next highest score while the consolation went to Mrs. W. O. Hart of Or- ange.

Torosa Rebekah

At the business meeting Wed- nesday evening in I. O. O. F. hall, Torosa Rebekah lodge completed plans for the installation of offi- cials to take place July 9, at 8:30 p. m. Mrs. Lulu Nankervis, of Westminster, district deputy pres- ident, with her staff of twelve of- ficers will conduct the ceremonies of the evening. Heads of commit- tees are Mrs. Leona Talbot, ban- quet, and Mrs. Amelia Prather, decorations.

Officers to be installed are: Mrs. Hazel Munselle, P. N. G.; Mrs. Al- lie Cain, N. G.; Laura Walker, V. C.; Mrs. Ida Perkins, recording secretary; Mrs. Maude Swarthout, financial secretary; Mrs. Pearl Loucks, treasurer.

One new member, Mrs. Emma Cochems, was initiated into the order.

The occasion of the 105th anni- versary of Odd-Fellowship will be celebrated in Southern California by a picnic at Pomona, Saturday, June 28, many Santa Anans plan- ning to attend. In the evening a military ball will take place at the American Legion hall.

It is indeed a busy week for this group, as it is to hold a cooked food sale in Gerard Brother's East end store all day Saturday. Cakes, pas- tries and other cooked foods are to be included in the sale which will begin at 10 a. m.

Happy Group Motors To Balboa Beach For Card Party

Motoring down to Balboa for a pleasant afternoon were several Santa Ana friends of Mrs. Carl Black, formerly Miss Inez Pierce, now of the beach city. Her at- tractive home on Central avenue, Balboa, was a happy retreat for the merry-makers who enjoyed an afternoon of five hundred.

Miss Elin Howard was rewarded for her skill while prize for low score went to Miss Florence Hodg- kinson. Following cards, two deli- cious arranged tables were used for serving an appetizing tea menu.

Enjoying Mrs. Black's hospital- ity were the Misses Irene Natland, Esther Hall, Elin Howard, Stella Halesworth, Florence Hodgkinson, Katie Pierce and Katherine Pack- ard.

Song Recital at First M. E. Church

An interesting recital is prom- ised members and friends of the First Methodist congregation in lieu of the usual Sunday night ser- vices there, for beginning at 7:30 o'clock, Victor Edmunds, the fa- mous Canadian and Los Angeles tenor, will offer a delightful pro- gram.

Mr. Edmunds will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Baker of Los Angeles, the latter at the pi- ano and Mr. Baker appearing in two duet numbers. Mrs. Baker is a daughter of the Rev. Will A. Betts and Mrs. Betts.

Y. W. C. A.

Dozens of girls and young wom- en who signed up for membership at the Y. M. C. A. at the get-together meeting Tuesday night, will welcome the announcement made today that Mrs. Jessie Seales, ma- tron at the new Y. building, would serve another excellent dinner next Tuesday evening to those who gather for their weekly gymnasium class and other interesting Y. W. C. A. work.

The dinner will be served at 6 o'clock for the very small sum of fifty cents a member but tickets must be purchased before Tues- day. They will be on sale at Ran- kin's store, but none will be sold Tuesday.

If the dinners seem popular with the patrons, they will probably be made a weekly feature it was stated.

Fidelas Class

The monthly social of the Fi- delas class of the First Baptist Sunday school will be held to- night at 7:30 o'clock at the J. D. Rinard home, Pasadena ave- nue, Tustin. Husbands of mem- bers will be honor guests.

Trio of Sisters Give One of June's Most Pleasant Parties

The charming home of the Roy Halls, 420 South Birch street, was the rendezvous for society yester- day when a sisterly trio, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Irwin F. Landis and Miss Marjorie Ellis presented a deli- cious affair with bridge as the motif.

A patriotic color scheme was in- troduced with a wealth of flowers blending into the tri-colors. Patri- otic score cards were distributed and guests sought their places at the eight tables utilized for bridge. Mrs. Walter Prince scored high in the contest and was rewarded with a handsome luncheon cloth brought from Panama on a recent trip of two of the hostesses, Mrs. Irwin and Miss Ellis.

Mrs. George Paul Jr. was award- ed the second prize while the third went to Mrs. Alex. Brown- ridge. The gifts were attractively wrapped in white tissue and tied with red, white and blue ribbons to conform to the general decora- tive scheme. In complete harmony, too, were table appointments and refreshments at the close of the afternoon for each table was centered with a low bowl of scarlet geraniums, wee white blossoms and blue cornflowers while the tri- colors were apparent in ices and cake and even the mints were mas- querading as bunches of fire- crackers.

Mrs. Donald Andrews, Miss Waive Kingrey, recently returned from Stanford, and Miss Verna Threlkild, a charming southerner who is a house-guest at the R. E. Coulter home, aided in pleasant hostess duties.

Woman's Bible Class

Those members of the north- west section of the Women's Bi- ble class of the First Christian church whose birthdays fall in April, May or June gathered for a merry birthday party Tuesday after- noon at the community house.

Mrs. Bruce Hayes, chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Will Hag- throp and Mrs. Dick Cashlon while chairman of different committees were Mrs. Ida McCann, refresh- ments; Mrs. C. E. Phillips, enter- tainment; Mrs. Etha Withero, decorations; Mrs. J. F. Gard and Mrs. D. H. Dunkin, reception.

The tri-colors were emphasized in all decorations with red dahlias, white daisies and blue larkspur used. At the tea hour, the same colors were apparent in the brick ice cream served with delicious white cake.

The pleasing program was given by Miss Madeline Moase in a group of musical readings; Miss Lazzetta Phillips and Miss Glenda May Waggoner in piano duets and Miss Lorene Porter in violin solos accompanied by Miss Veda Mitch- ell.

Friendly Circle

Tonight in the parlors of the First M. E. church the Friendly Circle class will enjoy a merry evening following the 6:30 din- ner to which all members are urged to come, as it will be the final social event of the season.

A LECTURE

On CHRISTIAN SCIENCE Entitled
OUR DIVINE INHERITANCE
By Dr. Walton Hubbard, C. S. B.
of Los Angeles, Cal.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Christian Science is a religion of demonstration—of works. It is the law of God, and it was in explanation of this law that Christ Jesus taught, and by the application of this Science that he healed the sick and the sinning. Either his work was according to divine law or it was not. It was either lawful or lawless. As a matter of record, he stated in various forms that his work was according to the law. He said that he came into the world in the name of his Father and the will of God is divine law.

Christian Science then is not the name of a religious sect, but a statement of the divine law by which the Master Christian wrought his works.

Through the study of Christian Science not only is the spiritual meaning of the Scriptures unfolded, but this unfolding supports the contention of Christian Science that the understanding of divine law destroys the effect of the so-called material laws which have resulted in sickness and discord. The effect of the understanding of divine law is always to heal and to save, and it is a well recognized fact that thousands and thousands have been healed of sickness and sin through the study of this Science. Indeed a large majority of those who have accepted Christian Science were led to it because through its ministrations they were healed after other methods failed.

Man in the Image of God

Now Christian Science teaches that man is the spiritual image of his Maker. The Bible in the passage declaring that God made man in His image, after His likeness, is stating an inevitable conclusion. God could not make man unlike Himself, and man must express the divine nature and character. The product is always like the source from which it proceeds. The effect is always according to the law which caused it.

Let us then consider the nature of God, remembering as we do so that we, as children of God, inherit all that God has of health and strength, peace and joy, and an abundance of all that constitutes God's being.

The various terms which are applied to Deity are descriptive or expressive of certain qualities of the infinite Being. They help us to understand the divine nature. When there came to the consciousness of some seeker after Truth an added understanding of the nature of God what could be more natural than to call God by that term which best expressed that nature?

The name Creator is commonly applied to God in connection with His creation, but Principle best expresses the thought. When we say that anything is brought forth, governed, or operated by Principle, we understand that we are speaking of fundamental law, which we believe cannot be changed, and which is continuously in operation. Man and have been brought forth according to God's law—that is, through the operation of divine Principle, and having been brought forth as the expression of Principle, they continue to be expressed only because the divine law, the law of divine Principle, continues in operation. Divine Principle then is that from which all proceeds and through whose continued operation it exists. The word Principle speaks to us of God from the standpoint of His immutability. It shows us that with Him "is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." Man can never cease to be the direct effect of Principle and for this reason he cannot avoid inheriting—not in the future, but now, the fullness of divine Love.

God includes all wisdom, infinite intelligence. He is divine Mind. Mind is that which knows. Surely then God is Mind, for is not God the omniscient, all-knowing One? Mrs. Eddy says on Page 114 of Science and Health, "In Science, Mind is one, including nounness and phenomena. God and His thoughts." The expression of the thoughts or ideas of divine Mind, the knowing of divine Mind, constitutes man and the universe.

Man Spiritual, Not Material
Now Mind is Spirit, and Spirit speaks to us of God as apart from matter, as the opposite of it. The Bible teaches that God is Spirit; Jesus said it, and it is recognized generally, yet if we accept this fact we must admit that it follows that the offspring of Spirit must be spiritual and not material. Our divine inheritance is found in spiritual perfection and spiritual joys, which are permanent and substantial. The real man, the manifestation of Spirit, is as Jesus said, born of the Spirit, and not of the flesh.

As ideas of infinite Mind we express the health, the strength, and the deathlessness of infinite Life. Do you think that infinite Life could lose its perfect consciousness of existence—that it could become sick or old or decrepit? Since God is life, Man's divine inheritance is a perfect understanding of spiritual existence, free from sickness and forever manifesting the power and vigor of his eternal Principle.

The most satisfying term for God is Love. One of the most beautiful things about Jesus' ministry is his teaching of the fact that God is Love, but how shall we define Love? Man has defined his highest human sense of love as that quality which causes one to appreciate, delight in, and crave the presence of its object, and to promote the welfare of that object. Infinite Love appreciates and delights in its perfect man and promotes his welfare. Divine Love is infinite peace and harmony and goodness. Every desirable thing is included in divine Love.

What Becomes of Matter?

If it be true that God's creation is spiritual, we shall have to dispose of the so-called creations of matter. Christian Science teaches that the material creation is but a manifestation of beliefs that are opposite of, or counterfeits of divine law. Mrs. Eddy has denominated all that is not of the divine Mind, not of Spirit, not of Truth, as mortal mind, but she points out that mortal mind is only a name which she has given to beliefs which are really not mind, because divine Mind is omnipresent and there is no place for a mind opposed to God. The Bible uses the term "carnal mind," or "mind of the flesh" to express this same thought, and insists that this so-called mind is enmity against God. John says, "For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life is not of the Father, but it is of the world." It is certain that if this world is not of the Father it is not real, not genuine, and it has no Truth in it. John's statement that "the whole world lieth in wickedness," is translated in the Revised Version "and the whole world lieth in the evil one," and shows clearly that John understood that the material world was entirely apart from God, good.

Now this teaching of the unreality of matter is the teaching of Jesus and his disciples, deduced from their understanding of God, but if we must have evidence from so-called material science there is much that is available.

The trend of modern material investigation is to recognize matter as less and less substantial. It is maintained by some of the greatest material thinkers of the day that all we know of the material universe is what the physical senses tell us, and that what we believe about it may not be true at all. Further than this, it is maintained that the things which we see about us are simply the apparent manifestations of energy or thought. Scientific deduction declares matter simply the effect of unseen law or thought. The material laws or beliefs, of which mortals and the material universe are the supposed manifestations, are what is named in Christian Science "mortal mind."

It is not maintained by Christian Scientists that the material beliefs about man and the universe do not seem real to the human consciousness, but experience has shown that they appear less and less real as we become more and more spiritual in our thinking.

Salvation From Human Beliefs

It seems evident that the material man needs to be saved from himself and from the human legacy of sin, sickness and death. The failure to find relief from the human sense of suffering through material means causes human thought to turn to the divine Mind for help. It is fortunate that the so-called human mind can yield to the divine Mind when through sickness and suffering it comes to recognize that in no other way can it escape from itself. The recognition of the real man and of his perfect Principle destroys the belief in sickness and leaves in its place a better concept of health and holiness.

The way in which the divine Mind operates to heal and to save is described by Mrs. Eddy on Page 251 of "Science and Health": "The divine Mind makes perfect, acts upon the so-called human mind through truth, leads the human mind to relinquish all error, to find the divine Mind to be the only Mind, and the healer of sin, disease, death."

There has never been and there can never be more than one way by which we may be saved. This way is through the coming of the Christ to human consciousness. This is the way by which we appropriate our divine inheritance, and destroy the legacy of sin, sickness, and mortality, which we have of the world. Down through the ages this understanding of the Christ has come in varying degrees to those who turned from materiality and who undertook to "enter in."

Proof Through Application

Having then in some degree laid hold on the fact of the real man's perfection we must prove its truth by applying it. The application of Christian Science is generally spoken of as Christian Science treatment. It is not a formula, but a question of right thinking. When there comes a discordant condition into human thought, we are to turn from it, realizing that because it is discordant, it is not of God. Then we go to the source of all being, to the divine Principle, Love, and recognize that the real man, the only man there is, is the image of Love, the perfect idea of Mind. The more insistent the pain or the discord, the more vehemently must we deny its reality, and hold to the spiritual fact of man's perfection, his freedom from the particular disease or error which we desire to destroy. As often as the material error intrudes itself upon human consciousness, we are to argue for the spiritual fact, until the human thought yields and we appropriate our spiritual inheritance of health and harmony. The realization of God's perfection and power in overcoming the difficulties which beset us is true prayer. It includes gratitude for the blessings already received, and sincere desire to understand God more fully. Such prayer is answered, for it replaces beliefs of sickness and sin with the consciousness of health and holiness.

How to Get Rid of the Ant

The Ant being the most intelligent of insects, is quick to take advantage when the Scout Ant reports the discovery of food. Like magic, when the news is spread "word ahead"—thousands of Ants will be in your pantry and considerable damage may be done before they are discovered. Talbot's Ant Powder is deadly to the Ant, who knows well enough to stay away when it is near. Should you not ward the Ants off in time and find them in your foodstuffs, sprinkle little Talbot's Ant Powder around the food and the Ants will quickly leave; also follow the line to where they enter your house and sprinkle with this powder—in a jiffy this particular band will disappear. Ants come in various bands, therefore while you are ridding yourself of one, the Scout Ant of another may be reporting the good news, and a second band approaching from another direction. Take precaution, sprinkle Talbot's Ant Powder every few days around food and your Ant troubles will be solved. At all dealers, insist on Talbot's.

BARBECUE CLUB MEET FEATURE OF LIONS

Members of the Santa Ana Lions club today were recalling the many interesting features of their meeting held yesterday at noon at Oakmont park, when they were served with a barbecued steak dinner amid surroundings that were attractive and novel.

The dinner was given on the subdivision tract as a courtesy to four members of the club, two of whom are now building residences. Residences are under construction for Clyde Whitney and Dr. Elliott Rowland. A. J. Ralph and Lylo Anderson already have homes there.

Tables were spread under walnut trees. J. C. Wallace, sales manager for the Santora Land company, owner of the subdivision, and chairman of the club program committee for the day, was the chief cook, and he barbecued the steaks to a "T," according to members. O. L.

Halsell, president of the Santora Land company, assisted in the preparation of the meal, everything being prepared on the ground by Wallace and Halsell. Ralph, Noel Berry, and others assisted in serving.

The surroundings prompted H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, to suggest that efforts should be made at once for crystallization here of a co-operative effort on the part of luncheon clubs to secure a bond issue for the procuring of a large public park site.

Walter Spicer, presiding in the absence of President H. B. Van Dien, announced that the board of directors already had taken up the subject and that the civics affairs committee of the club was taking steps to organize a campaign for a park.

The transfer of Ray Canterbury to Pasadena as manager of the store there of the Green-Marshall Paint company, was announced by the acting president. Canterbury will assume his new position on the first day of July. Regrets were expressed by club members.

A. H. Bradley, district manager for the Burroughs Adding Machine company, announced his resignation as a member of the club. Bradley's home is in Riverside and he has been coming here to attend meetings. He said that he was resigning because he felt he was holding here a classification that should be open to some one else. He had transferred his membership to the Riverside club, but he said he expected to attend here.

The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, presented some of the ideals of Lions in an address under the caption of "A Lion has a mane, but he is not a rough neck."

The committee in charge of arrangements yesterday was composed of Wallace, George Ash, James McDill and Ralph.

Wednesday evening the club will be guests of the Grigsby orchestra at the Rendezvous, at Balboa. Bruce Munroe, chairman of the entertainment committee, stated.

Begin Drilling Well At Orange

The Trustees Development association has begun drilling operations on its well on the Jacob Muller property, Fairhaven and Grand avenues, Orange, while at Huntington Beach, according to advices received here today, the Standard Oil company spudded in on No. 17, on the Bolsa lease. The company also begun deepening operations on three wells, No. 1 on Huntington A lease; No. 1, on Mills lease, and No. 7, on Huntington A lease. The Fred Reuther company began redrilling on No. 1 and the Central Oil company of Los Angeles took the same action on its No. 1 well.

Tests for water shut-off were made by the Standard Oil company on Huntington Beach No. 25 and by the Pan American Petroleum company on No. 6.

COURT AFFRAY VICTIM ENTERS DIVORCE ROW

O. W. Dehne, Santa Ana man who was knocked "cold" at the door of Justice Jack Landell's court-room by Al Aubuchon of Orange, who had been arrested together with Dehne's wife and others, following a raid made on Orange, was cross-complainant today in a divorce contest with his wife, Mrs. Amelia Dehne.

Dehne filed an answer and cross-complaint to his wife's divorce suit late yesterday, several hours after the attack made upon him by Aubuchon. The attack had climaxed a court hearing, in which Aubuchon, 37, Mrs. Dehne, 25, Mrs. Fannie Molin, 22, and Earl Davidson, 28, were arraigned on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Mrs. Dehne's 4-year-old daughter.

Orange police had arrested the quartette in a raid upon an asserted love nest at Orange. In his cross-complaint to the divorce action, Dehne says his wife abandoned him last December 29. He also mentioned a raid made Monday night at a house located at 237 1/2 West Maple avenue, Orange.

In a statement made today, regarding a newspaper article that referred to Aubuchon as the despoiler of his home, Dehne explained that he had not accused Aubuchon of despoiling his home, as the Dehnes had separated before Aubuchon was said to have come upon the scene. He does not accuse Aubuchon and the others of contributing to the delinquency of his little daughter, Dehne said.

In his cross-complaint to the divorce action, Dehne charged Mrs. Dehne of improper conduct with "another man," who was said to be "unknown" to Dehne. Mention of the asserted raid at Orange was made in connection with this statement.

Elevator Crushes Out Youth's Life

SAN BERNARDINO, June 27.—Wilmot T. Smith, Jr., 15-year old son of a prominent local banker, was crushed to death late yesterday when caught in an elevator shaft of a hardware store where he was working during the summer. The boy's father is manager of the local branch of the Hellman bank.

In ordinary use the pedal of a bicycle turns about 300 times in a mile.

So. Cal Makes Tax Gain Even After Rate Cut

With a quarter of a million income taxpayers taking advantage of the 50 per cent reduction for their June income tax installments, receipts were greater than those of the corresponding period of 1923 when the deduction allowed this year was not in effect, according to word Thad A. Davis, deputy internal revenue collector stationed here, had received today. Rex B. Goodcell at Los Angeles said, that income tax collections from June 1 to June 23 were $8,613,062.65, as compared with $7,968,462.58 for the same days of last year, an increase of $644,600.07.

"This remarkable increase in the face of a 50 per cent reduction is the answer to the calamity howler," said Collector Goodcell, according to Davis.

"With an increase of 41,871 in the number of income tax returns filed this year, eighty per cent or 33,789 were taxable returns. Tax paid in this year income enabled us to offset the fifty per cent cut and still show a gain in collections of more than a half million dollars."

MERRYMAKERS IN AIR BILL SUCCESS

Arnold's Merry-makers scored another success at The Register studio last night when they broadcast a program of popular music for KFWB's audience. Individual hits were registered in solos played by Cliff Arnold, saxophone; Pud Martin, violin, and Miss Louise Ward, piano.

Plenty of pep and snap marked all the numbers offered by the Merry-makers and several telephone calls from listeners in asking for favorite selections were received.

Here's the complete program broadcast from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock:

"Oh, Baby"; "The One I Love Belongs to Somebody Else"; "Somebody Stole My Gal"; saxophone solo, "Pal o' Mine"; Cliff Arnold; violin solo, "Roses of Picardy"; Pud Martin; piano solo, "Cocoon Chant"; Miss Louise Ward; "Sobbin' Blues"; cornet solo, "I Love You Truly"; Leslie Carmack; "Bugle Call Rag"; "Oriental Love Dream"; and "Shine."

M'ADOO LOSES GRIP AMONG GAMBLERS

(By United Press Leased Wire) NEW YORK, June 27.—As a result of yesterday's McAdoo and anti-McAdoo fight, the odds of the Californian to get the Democratic nomination have lengthened again. J. S. Fried and Company said today.

He is quoted as a 1 to 5 chance, whereas yesterday he was 1 to 4 1/2 and when the convention opened, 1 to 3.

Betting on Gov. Smith at 1 to 2 1/2 is still lively and Senator Royal S. Copeland supporters started laying money yesterday. His odds shortened from 1 to 8 to 1 to 6.

Other odds today:

Ralston 1 to 3 1/2.

Glass 1 to 5.

Dayis 1 to 4.

Underwood 1 to 4.

Ritchie 1 to 6.

Newton D. Baker 1 to 6.

"There is no place like South-ern California, especially after one has lived here thirty years, as I have," today remarked O. M. Robbins, secretary of a building and loan association, following his return home last night after visiting for two weeks with his brother in Rapid City, S. D.

The tourist traffic toward California in the Black Hills section of South Dakota, according to Robbins, was extremely heavy. As an example, he declared one night he went to bed at 9 o'clock and between that hour and when he arose in the morning 137 persons had registered at the hotel.

"Business seems to be fair," he added. "Crops are slow and rain was badly needed. The weather was muggy."

"Am I glad to get back?" "Well I can best answer that by saying I planned to stay three weeks when I left, but here I am."

RESTORE POWER TO PEPPER GROWERS

After a temporary suspension, electric power was again restored today to the circuit extending along Ocean avenue, west of Garden grove, and asserted danger to pepper crops in that district, due to threatened lack of water, was averted.

Restoration of the current to this circuit was ordered here late yesterday by the Santa Ana district power conservation committee, which held a special session at the farm bureau offices.

Investigating representations of pepper growers, the committee found pepper plants must have more water at this time of year than any other.

Twenty growers from the Anaheim district, all consumers of electrical power, complained because they were cut off from power without being notified, but after the power situation was explained and the work of the committee told them, they agreed to abide by any rules laid down by the committee and stated they were willing to cooperate in every way.

C. E. Henry, of the growers, stated that he blamed the Edison company because a program for conservation was not mapped out before it was necessary to pull any switches and stated, "you've agitated the growers so much that they have gotten to the point where they don't want to cooperate." He scored the publicity that newspapers had given the shortage, stating that it "has done nothing but scare the grower."

He declared that he knew of one grower who had thirty-five men working in the field when the power cut came, and that it was not until late in the afternoon that he found out why he had been deprived of the current.

"The workmen had to be paid just the same," Henry remarked. "I don't know how much money you have cost the farmer by not notifying him that the power would be cut."

W. L. Deimling, district manager for the Edison company in Santa Ana, stated that no time was given for the warning of all consumers, and that the Kern river, where some of the power comes from, was running heavy June 1.

"The shortage will cost the Edison company about $7,000,000," he said.

The Santa Ana district used the last of its 1,700,000 kilowatt hours, allotted for the last fifteen days of June, shortly after noon today and consumption of part of the district's July quota was begun this afternoon, Fred. Reyer, superintendent here for the Edison company, announced.

An announcement from the Los Angeles office today gave the district permission to borrow on the 3,500,000 kilowatt hour quota for July.

"Information given me from Los Angeles was to the effect that as long as the Santa Ana district did not use more than a total of 113,333 kilowatt hours each twenty-four hours, we could borrow on the July quota. The district ran 114,876 kilowatt hours yesterday but the day before ran only 106,000 hours, so the average to date, is under what the Los Angeles office allows," stated Reyer.

No switches in the county were pulled today. Reyer stated that all consumers in the county had been warned of the emergency and that "I am placing them on their honor today, but of course if they run over the allotted amount for today, then there will be no service again tomorrow."

All irrigation, industrial and other power lines were in working order today.

No restrictions will be placed on motion picture theaters in the city or county, it was stated, because officials are of the opinion that attendance at the shows reduces the consumption of electricity in homes.

SPECIAL BUSINESS TAX IS DUE MONDAY

Special and occupational taxes imposed by the government, affecting more than 10,000 Southern California professional and business men, should be paid by Monday, Collector Rex B. Goodcell announced at Los Angeles. Under the new revenue act, a penalty of $1000 is provided in the case of a taxpayer carrying on a business subject to a special tax on which the tax has not been paid, Thad A. Davis, deputy assigned to the Santa Ana office, declared here today.

He added:

"Physicians and druggists and all dealers in narcotics must register and pay tax by June 30, or incur heavy penalties under the Harrison narcotic act."

"Stock brokers, pawnbrokers, custom house brokers, ship brokers, proprietors of bowling alleys, shooting galleries, riding academies, passenger automobiles for hire and pleasure boats should pay their special taxes by June 30."

"Under the new revenue act, exclusive produce and merchandise brokers are exempt from the special tax. The tax on theaters, concert halls and museums based on seating capacity is eliminated. Circuses, exhibitions and street fairs are also exempt from the special tax. Automobiles that transport school children are also tax free."

"Three thousand physicians have only Saturday and Monday in which to register and pay tax. Delinquents who issued narcotic prescriptions are liable to heavy fines and imprisonment under the Harrison narcotic act."

"New forms for capital stock returns were sent out to 10,000 Southern California corporations. Corporations which have never filed returns were warned that their names are not of record in the revenue office and that they must make application for forms and file returns and pay tax within the time limit. Forms have been mailed to all corporations of record."

Fine 7 Motorists Here As Violators

Seven motorists were fined in City Recorder W. F. Heathman's court during the past twenty-four hours, according to the police docket. They were Elmer Belshe of Seal Beach, $15 for speeding across a dangerous street intersection; Burr Shafer, $5 for parking overtime in the two-hour zone; S. A. Elzea, $2 for parking downtown between 2 and 5 a. m., and W. H. Rose of Westminster, George F. Holden of Anaheim, J. H. Hitchcock and J. D. Davis, $2 each for parking their automobiles in the restricted district.

Charles Kelley, unable to pay a $15 "drunk" fine, was given a jail sentence of seven and a half days. Charley Maldonado sent Recorder Heathman $11 in payment of the balance of his fine for being drunk, rather than remain longer in the county jail here.

'Peeping Tom' At North Is Fugitive

Persons residing in the 900 block on Minter street were given a scare last night by a prowler who walked through several yards and peered into windows, according to a report filed at police headquarters. The department received several calls from startled families, and officers were dispatched to the neighborhood. The prowler apparently had seen the police approaching, as a thorough search of the vicinity by officers failed to reveal any trace of the "peeping Tom."

300 Optometrists Due at Pasadena

PASADENA, June 27.—Pasadena on July 7, 8 and 9, will host to more than 300 vision specialists who will gather in the Crown city for the annual convention of the California State Association of Optometrists. Two short business sessions of the convention will be held daily, while the balance of the time will be devoted to clinical work and to hearing addressed by men who have won national recognition in the profession.

Prof. Frederic A. Woll, head of the physics department of Columbia university and recognized as the foremost authority in the nation on eye dissection, will be chief educational speaker. Dr. William B. Needles, president of the Illinois college of optometry, and Prof. H. A. Fug of Los Angeles, also are included in the list of speakers.

"I suppose the reason for this is because most every California girl gets a great deal of training on the beaches whereas the Eastern girl does not," he said. "At any rate, I find them more graceful and active than Eastern girls."

Members of the women's gymnasium classes, just begun here, are apt pupils. They are in earnest. They are enthusiastic, too.
Russick said he did not think the classes at this time were well attended merely because "gym" work in Santa Ana is more or less a novelty.

"If it is merely a fad with them, you would never have seen so many come out the first day.
There were more than fifty young girls at the morning class and the first class in the afternoon, and more than thirty girls over sixteen years of age in the other classes."

"On the first day I discovered one thing that leads me to feel confident the work is going to be successful.
"Santa Ana girls like to march.
They like to do a 'right face' and 'left face.' I can tell by the way they march down the floor that they enjoy it."

"They pay strict attention to orders and all of them do all in their power to carry out these directions. There is no shirking or dodging."

"A thing that struck me as the outstanding point of the first gym-

GIRL, 21, IS MOTHER OF FIVE

HOUSEHOLD ON $20 A WEEK

Mrs. William Nye, of Mansfield, Mass., who at 21 is the mother of five healthy children pictured here.

MANSFIELD, Mass., June 27.—
This village lays claim to the most successful girl in the world.

It sounds an extravagant boast until you hear why.

She is 21 and the mother of five healthy babies.

She spreads and stretches her husband's $20-a-week income in such a manner as to keep her family larder filled, to pay all bills, to save enough that they have been able to buy a flivver.

She sings while she washes clothes (a daily task).

She loves her children and they love her.

L. A. PORT TOUR CHAMBERS TOLD MEN VISUALIZE HARBOR HERE $5000 WOULD AID HARBOR

Benefits to Back Country Outlined As Facilities Are Compared

Inspired by the tremendous industrial activity at the great harbor of the Southland, the 150 prominent Orange county citizens who yesterday cruised the Los Angeles harbor were visioning today the unlimited possibilities which would result from development of the tri-counties harbor at Newport.

While the trip was intended primarily to be a "lesson in harbor construction" for the visitors from Orange county, it proved to be an "eye opener" and caused many to comment on the immense importance of a harbor both to the immediate vicinity and to the back country served by the port.

With this apparent greater realization of the necessity for immediate development of the local harbor, it was expected that the committee of fifty and other organizations interested in the project at Newport bay would seek the early adoption by the county board of supervisors of a harbor program.

Shown Development

When the special train carrying the Orange county delegation arrived at the foot of Canal street in Wilmington, the passengers were met by Charles E. Sims and W. R. Sadler, members of the harbor department of Los Angeles, who addressed the visitors on board the boat during the cruise.

Attention was directed by these men to the dockage facilities, the breakwater, the massive steel bridges which span various points of the harbor and to the various types of foreign vessels which are helping to make the seaport famous.

Commenting on the value of the harbor to the entire Southland, Sims stated:

"It is not difficult for the members of the harbor department here to realize that this harbor was built principally for the back country instead of for the immediate vicinity of the port. Of course, Los Angeles has been tremendously benefited by the harbor and the city has developed many times faster than if there were no harbor here, but the back country which seemingly had no possible chance for development is being enriched."

Benefits Outlined

"Because of good shipping facilities the farmers are encouraged to produce more. Industries are being encouraged in small cities which had farm centers. The harbor supplies a world market for everything that is produced, so with a new hope the residents of the back country are being encouraged to enrich themselves and incidentally to stimulate development of their own country."

Sadler told his hearers that the harbors of the Southwest were being considered the best in the world for shipping lumber, not only because of exceptional market conditions but because lumber seasons better in this climate. A billion and a half board feet was received in 1923 in Los Angeles port, much of which was re-shipped to Orange county and the back country of the local harbor. It was said that more than $2 a thousand board feet could be saved Orange county consumers by shipping direct to Newport in small lumber schooners.

County Aids L. A.

Another important item which has helped assure the success of the Los Angeles port is the 142, 000,000 barrels of oil shipped during 1923. Orange county during

Small Wharf and Hoist Are Needed If Rock For Road Shipped to Newport

Expenditure of approximately $5000 by the county in building a small wharf and in placing a power hoist would make Orange county harbor available as a delivery point for hundreds of tons of rock to be used in the construction of the coast boulevard between Huntington Beach and Balboa palisades, it became known today, following declaration to this effect made by Lew H. Wallace of Newport Beach at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce held at Anaheim last night.

Wallace stated that he had been in conference with the board of supervisors recently on the subject of funds for a wharf. He asserted that he had been assured by the contractor on the coast boulevard that if the wharf were completed by the end of July, rock from Catalina would be delivered at Orange county harbor instead of at Los Angeles harbor.

The harbor booster urged that residents of the various super-visorial districts use their influence in inducing the supervisors to make an appropriation for the wharf.

700 Tons Pipe Due

Virtually the only adverse criticism on the harbor project made by army engineers is the lack of shipping, Wallace said, adding that if a wharf were built it would be possible to develop some important shipments through the harbor. He said that 700 tons of pipe was scheduled to be delivered at the port July 15, for the Southern Counties Gas company.

The session of the county body held last night at Elks' club, Anaheim, was rather an "experience" meeting, with representatives of the various organizations identified with it recounting some of the activities of their respective chambers.

Discussions were confined exclusively to the harbor and power conservation.

The speakers were unanimous in their declaration that no time should be wasted in getting further harbor improvement work under way.

Harry Becker of Brea, representing the Union Oil company, suggested that a county bond issue should be voted in sufficient amount absolutely to assure completion of the project. In his opinion, the sum should be $5,000,000 to $5,000,000.

Brea Interested

"We should complete the project at the earliest date possible so that we may cash in on our valuable asset," he said. "Brea is vitally interested in the completion of the harbor. Oil companies are shipping into Los Angeles port hundreds of tons of pipe that should come into the Orange county harbor."

"Get the harbor and industrials will come fast enough," declared Tom McFadden, prominent attorney of Placentia. "We ought to put our money into the project at once and get it completed. With completion of the harbor, I have a vision of one of the largest cities in Southern California, outside of Los Angeles, situated in the Costa Mesa district."

The harbor had not been discussed much in Northern Orange county, George Reed, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, said, but he added that the port must be completed.

WOMAN OUTWITS SMARTEST OIL OPERATORS AND BRINGS RICHES TO HER OWN COUNTY

PAULINE L. HOLLAND

WICHITA, Kas., June 27.—Pauline L. Holland outsmarted the smartest oil operators in the midwest and brought fortune to herself and Greenwood county.

Six years ago the oil fraternity moved derricks out of Greenwood.
After a succession of dry holes, the big companies packed their equipment and marked Greenwood county to be avoided.

But there was one woman who believed in Greenwood.

Educated, refined and energetic, she has blocked more acreage and got more tests drilled than any man in the field.

Miss Holland has assembled 14 blocks and got a test drilled on all but one. Every test was drilled to the contract depth without a squabble, and every farmer who joined in the block was satisfied.

Not every test proved a producer, but a majority of them found oil and made money for the operators and the farmers who joined in the block.

Assembled Block

Her latest feat was in assembling a block in Russell county, after some of the best lease hounds playing the game had failed. She not only blocked the acreage, but has a drilling contract which assures a depth of 3500 feet. The structure on this block was examined by a number of leading geologists in the mid-continent field and pronounced good.

Her greatest feat as an oil woman, however, happened when the big companies left Greenwood county and not a test was drilled in the entire territory.

She assembled a block of acreage, and interested John Griegs, the well known oil man, to create a big showing. It created a small sensation. The big companies, on the strength of this showing, sent geologists to Greenwood county, and in less than a year and a half a dozen other tests had come in for producers.

Becomes Banner County

The tide turned back to Greenwood and today the county has run ahead of Butler, for years the banner county of Kansas in oil production.

Miss Holland is a graduate mining engineer. For several years she was with the Anaconda Copper company of Montana. She came to Kansas seven years ago to buy production for a Colorado company. The price of production, she thought, was too high, so she started drilling in the shallow fields of Montgomery, Elk and Chautauqua counties.

She drilled in 88 tests in these fields and never got a duster.
Later she entered the blocking game and has made a bigger success in the way of completing blocks and getting tests of any person playing the entire field.

"I have been whipped in the game just the same as men," she says,
"but I keep everlastingly at it and this is why I have been able to continue blocking acreage and getting tests put down."

Jurors Ask Life
Term For Slayer

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—Godfrey H. Cowdrey will be sentenced Monday to life imprisonment, following his conviction late yesterday on a charge of slaying Joseph Langley, local theater manager.

Langley, manager of two theaters in the Westlake district, was shot and killed last September 18.
He was robbed of a cash box containing $75. Cowdrey evaded capture for many months, but was finally taken while plotting another robbery, according to arresting officers.

S. A. BANKS TO PAY DIVIDEND
CHECK TOTAL
OF $90,000
ON JULY 1

Money Plentiful Here For Legitimate Purposes;
Speculation Taboo

BAN LONG TIME LOANS

City's Institutions Show Increase In Business During Past Period

Stockholders in four of the five banking institutions operating in Santa Ana will receive dividend checks July 1 totalling approximately $90,000, it was disclosed today by investigations as to the dividends the banks will pay.

With one exception dividends will be for the six-month period ending June 30. One of the banks pays quarterly, otherwise the total of distribution on the first of the month would be larger, a local banker declared.

At the same time, investigations disclosed that money is plentiful for legitimate purposes—industrial, agricultural and commercial. There is no money available for speculative purposes, bankers said.

Long time loans also are taboo, it was stated by the cashier of one of the banks.

"Deposits are good for this season of the year and there is plenty of money for legitimate purposes," this cashier declared. "We have calls every day for money for use in speculation but we are turning down such demands with the regularity of their production."

"Business conditions generally in Santa Ana are good, in fact, A-1, when compared with conditions in some of the other communities nearby. In the first half of the year now near its end, banking institutions of the city have shown increasing business and have no complaint to make."

"It is my belief that this fall will see a resumption of activities in all lines that will again set the pace for other sections of the Southland, the state and the nation. This community is established on a foundation too firm for long continuation even of the present light depression."

A moderate recession of business activity appeared in this district during May, according to John Perrin, chairman of the board and Federal Reserve agent, Federal Reserve bank, San Francisco.

"Declines in production, noted during March and April, continued, and the first evidence of a decline in the distribution and consumption of goods were observed," Perrin said. "Instead, however, of the increase in demand by business men for bank accommodation which has heretofore characterized the beginning of a major depression, the credit requirements of business in the district have recently diminished promptly with the decline in trade activity."

Interest Rates Eased

"Accompanying the diminishing demand for bank credit, interest rates at the banks have eased slightly. The trend of prices was downward during the month, continuing a movement begun in February."

"Foremost among the factors contributing to this decline in business activity have been the falling off in building permits which in May were 13 per cent less than a year ago but were still in relatively large volume; the hesitancy in the market for lumber, following several months of large production; the unsatisfactory condition of growing crops, which in every state of the district except Arizona are reported to have suffered to a material degree from lack of seasonal rainfall; the problems facing copper mines because current production cannot be sold at prices favorable to the high cost producers; and the hampering effects of the hoof and mouth disease of livestock in parts of California, a factor of declining importance as eradication of the disease progresses."

"Notwithstanding these unfavorable influences, figures of debits to individual bank accounts, which afford the best single available index of business conditions in this

CHAMBER CRISIS
MEETING SET FOR TONIGHT

Called for the purpose of cooperating with the board of directors in its reorganization, a meeting of the membership of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the Frances E. Willard junior high school on North Main street.

This meeting, called following the circulation of petitions among the members, is expected by many to be one of the most important ever held by the Santa Ana commercial organization. It was freely predicted today that virtually the entire membership would be present.

Leaders in the reorganization movement declare the most important business to come before the session will be the discussion of plans for reorganization and the recommending of persons to fill vacancies created when six board members recently expressed intention to resign by August 1, at which time Secretary J. C. Metzgar will turn over his post to a successor yet to be named.

The advisability of increasing the board of directors to fifteen members also is expected to be considered.

Certain members of the organization have stated that a crisis has arisen and the future of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce depends, to a certain extent, on the action to be taken tonight. It is the intention to reorganize a greater and more efficient organization by the members at this session.

convention of the Veterans of Forwith 450 men and women from fortunate posts in the two states attending the gathering. A huge parade, with hundreds in line, was a feature of last night's program.

ALIMONY CASE PRISONER TO LEARN FATE

Whether W. H. Pillsbury, Anaheim business man recently sent to jail for alleged contempt of court in failing to pay "back" alimony to his wife, must remain incarcerated or will regain his freedom, was scheduled to be decided at 4 p. m. today when Pillsbury comes before Judge F. C. Drumm in superior court here on a writ of habeas corpus.

Asserted failure of Pillsbury to comply with a court order regarding the alimony caused Judge Z.
B. West to order his confinement several weeks ago. Pillsbury has been in jail since that time.

Judge Drumm late yesterday issued a writ of habeas corpus when petitioned by Attorney A. E. Koep-fel, representing Pillsbury. Hearing on the writ was set for this afternoon. In his petition, Pillsbury contended that he had not been given a fair opportunity to comply with the prior court order.

Judge Drumm recently set aside an interlocutory decree of divorce granted to Mrs. Pillsbury and granted a new trial, which is set for hearing within a short time.
Pillsbury is manager of an ice company at Anaheim.

Hold Funeral For Realtor of Beach

Funeral services for W. A. Irwin, prominent Newport Beach and Costa Mesa realtor, who died at his home at Newport Heights early Tuesday morning, were held today at 10 a. m. from the Smith and Tenthill chapel. Burial was in Forest Lawn cemetery, Los Angeles.

Members of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors attended the funeral in a body, they having closed their offices during the services. By proclamation of Mayor George P. Wilson, business also was suspended in Newport Beach during the hour of the funeral.

The pallbearers, all of whom are directors of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, were Lew Wallace, Harry Welch, Dr. C. G. Huson, J. F. Greeley, Joseph A. Beek and Andrew H. Willson.

The Rev. Mr. Engle of Costa Mesa officiated.

SHELL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA

The Shell Company of California, who operate gasoline service stations throughout Southern California, was the first company to voluntarily offer a reduction of 100% in its service station lighting; provided all other service stations would do likewise.

The acute shortage of power, due to lack of water, coupled with a desire to co-operate with the power company prompted this action. Specifically, the offer is to open all service stations at 7 a. m. and close them at 7 p. m., under which arrangement no lights would be used at all.

A recent canvass of a large number of gasoline consumers reveals a desire on the part of the public to co-operate to the fullest extent in this crisis.

Due to the necessity of formulating a uniform plan for light conservation at all Shell Company service stations throughout Southern California, a slight delay in cutting down the light was unavoidable. This delay caused the impression in some districts that the Shell Company was opposed to reducing their lights. This however was in error.

Joint-Ease
for Burning Feet

Just because it is now known that painful, sore, aching, swollen feet are caused by the many joints in the foot and Joint-Ease soaks right in and gets to the seat of the trouble—the cartilage and ligaments of the joints.

And to think that for generations we have been powdering and soaking our feet thinking the trouble was only skin deep—an old-fashioned idea. Well, better late than never—just stop the powdering and medical bathing and other foolishness for three days and just rub on Joint-Ease—And remember when Joint-Ease soaks in foot agony get out—quick—60 cents a tube.

All druggists sell lots of Joint-Ease. adv.

COUNTRY CLUB IS EQUIPMENT BUYER

Equipment of the Orange county Country club today was sold at public sale to the Santa Ana Country club, recently organized. Lew H. Wallace of Newport Beach bid in the property for the new club. C. G. Twit officiated as auctioneer. Very little interest was manifested in the auction.

The equipment consisted of a curbed lighting plant, a French kitchen range and vent hood; furnishing for the club house and tools used in maintaining the grounds. Organized several years, the Orange County Country club is scheduled to cease to exist July 1. The club had its grounds on lands leased from the Irvine Company.

The new club has purchased acreage and work has been in progress for several months in preparing the links ready for occupancy. The greens have been developed and fairways are being given attention.

According to reports, the old grounds have been leased to Joe Szwinski, professional golf instructor, who will operate public links.

FOULARDS IN FASHION

Among the unfunny editors of funny papers there is a venerable tradition that there are only Seven Original Jokes. These are the tramp joke; the ham-actor joke; the mother-in-law joke; the man-kicked-by-a-mule joke; the hired girl joke; the small-boy joke and the April fool joke. All other jokes are mere derivatives or variations. Applying this to the serious subjects of style, there is but a limited number of primary styles, and when these are exhausted we go back and begin all over again.

Brighly colored figures upon a dark background—that is, polka dots, pin dots, coin spots, diamond designs, interlocked circles, horseshoes, crescents and the like—are one of the oldest patterns in men's neckwear. Indeed, they are so old that they become new when introduced after a goodly lapse of years. They are very much the vogue this summer in foulard silks of English manufacture. Foulard is a very light, feathery silk woven in plain or twilled effects with different-colored figures superimposed upon it or hand blocked in the finer grades. Foulard is capably suited to hot-weather wear, because it is thin, readily knotted and proof against perspiration. Moreover, it comes in the most brilliant colorings, that is, light-colored grounds with dark figures or dark-colored grounds with light figures. A typical summer foulard four-in-hand is sketched here. The collar is the shape with a deep-pointed front. It is seemingly high, but actually low.

The furor for foulards has even spread to handkerchiefs which are shown in colorings and patternings to match four-in-hands or bow-knot ties or both—blues, greens, tans, canary yellows and the like set off with vividly contrasting dots or spots.

As with a woman, so with a fashion—"What care I how fair she be, if she be not fair to me?" The notion that style is something one must follow, blindfolded, gagged and manacled, is as behind the time as last year's newspaper. More than ever, men are dressing with independence and individuality, suiting the fashion to the person. Select what you think you look best in, it's pounds to pence that you will look best in what you select.

Dogs' Lives in Peril As Taxes Are Delinquent

Now is the time to purchase a new, nickel-plated lock to adorn Fido's leather necklace.

This was the edict issued today by R. D. Faucett, deputy poundmaster, in charge of the city's annual drive on dog owners who are delinquent in the payment of the annual tax assessed by the city.

All dog licenses, issued for the period between June, 1923, and June, 1924, are now obsolete, according to Faucett, and unless new tags have been secured for the ensuing year, Fido is in danger.

According to Faucett, a rigid inspection of Santa Ana's canine population is under way. The life and happiness of Fido and his brothers and sisters may be preserved for a year however, by the purchase of the new tag which, incidentally, takes the form of a nickel disc bearing a number and other suitable identification.

Dog licenses may be secured from the poundmaster or at police headquarters, Faucett stated.

Diseases traced to constipation are many—get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

Why does constipation breed other diseases? Because it floods your system with dangerous poisons. And the longer you suffer, the more poisons accumulate. That is why constipation should be relieved at once.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. They know it brings results because it is ALL bran. And only ALL bran can be 100 percent effective in relieving constipation.

ALL bran — Kellogg's — sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts as nature acts. It makes the intestine function naturally and regularly. If eaten regularly, it will bring permanent relief in the most chronic cases of constipation—is guaranteed.

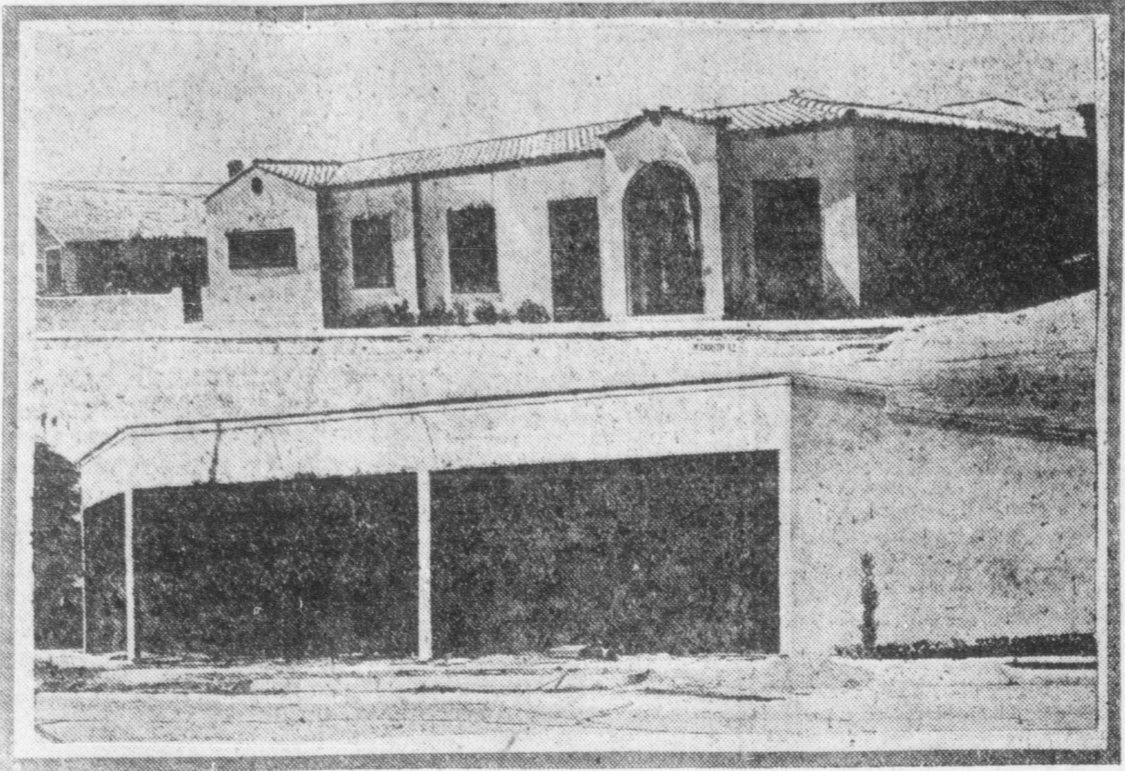

to do so or your grocer returns your money.

Eat at least two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will like the wonderful Kellogg flavor—so crisp and nut-like—so different from ordinary bran, which are most unpalatable.

Eat Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. And by all means try it in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, made in Battle Creek, is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

PIONEERS WAY BY BUILDING HERE IN PART OF CITY DESTINED FOR BUSINESS AREA

Here are two types of business house construction developing in the semi-business districts of the city. Upper—the new office building of Dr. J. M. Burlew, erected on the northwest corner of Eighth street (formerly Hickey) and Broadway at a cost of approximately $12,000. It contains eleven rooms. Lower—the new building being erected by Wesley Hamilton on the northeast corner of North Main and El Portal streets at a cost of $7,000. One room is to be occupied by a Sam Selig store and the other by a drug store. Negotiations for a lease on the latter room had not been completed today, it was stated.

Leading the way into what he believes is destined to become an important part of the business district in later years, Dr. J. M. Burlew today had completed and was occupying his new office building on the northwest corner of Eighth and North Broadway.

Erected at a cost of approximately $12,000, the office is thoroughly equipped for the use of the physician. It contains eleven rooms, including a large waiting room, consultation room, office and examination rooms, laboratory and other places necessary in the operation of a physician's office.

Designed along mission lines, and with stucco finish, the office building presents a fine appearance. It was expected today that Sam Selig would be occupying by July 15, the new store room being erected at the northeast corner of North Main and El Portal streets by Wesley Hamilton. Selig will occupy the north forty feet and the south twenty is to be the home of a new drug store. Negotiations for a lease on the latter had not been completed today.

Stage and Screen

Bert Lytell and Claire Windsor in a scene from "A Son of the Sahara," picture opening tonight at the Yost theater.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

YOST—Vaudeville and "A Son of the Sahara," with Bert Lytell. WALKER—"Untamed Youth," with Lloyd Hughes. WEST END—"Unseen Hands," with Wallace Beery. TEMPLE—"The Spitfire," with Betty Blythe.

WALLACE BEERY AS STAR IN "UNSEEN HANDS."

An unusually exciting romance and love story is offered the audience at the West End theater where "Unseen Hands," with Wallace Beery as the star, is shown.

The locale takes in the picturesque northern frontier of France, with some big scenes in the mines, where one Jean Scholast after becoming a power, makes it possible for a noted surgeon to make a slip during a major operation by switching off the electric lights, death resulting from the murderous work of Scholast.

Scholast weds the widow and he finds himself unable to shake off the haunted past, with hands—always unseen—clutching at his throat. He deserts his wife, sells the mines and runs away with the money as well as the jewels of Mrs. Scholast.

He turns up in Arizona, U. S. A., where he seeks refuge from the phantom hands in an old Spanish rancho. He takes heavily to drink and finding a pretty Indian woman close by, he weds her and installs her as mistress of the hacienda. He tires of her and turns his attention to her comely daughter. Meanwhile the son of the man whose death he had caused, trails him down.

"THE SPITFIRE" OPENS AT TEMPLE TONIGHT.

When Murray W. Garson's production, "The Spitfire" comes to the screen at the Temple tonight, local audiences will see a film version of Frederic Arnold Kummer's popular novel, "Plaster Saints," with the greatest array of all-star talent ever assembled for one production.

In the cast appears Betty Blythe, Lowell Sherman, Elliott Dexter, Pauline Garon, Burr McIntosh, Robert Warwick, Rubye Blaine, Ray Allen, Leslie King and Jack Donovan.

Wild life in Wall Street and theatrical circles. That's the sum and substance of "The Spitfire." The glamor falls from sugar magnates, play producers and their kind. Young man sows wild oats and the harvest is a bank job gone and the "nothing doing" sign hung

PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF SISTER

Word has been received in Santa Ana by Judge E. T. Langley, Mrs. Genira Purdon and Mrs. Emma Bull of the death of their sister, Mrs. Damaris Langley Evans, at Kalispell, Mont., June 5. Mrs. Evans, who was 77 years old, died suddenly, while apparently in the best of health.

Mrs. Evans, whose home was in Palisade, N. J., was taking medical treatment at Kalispell at the time of her death. With her was a daughter, Mrs. Fred A. Hacker of Dayton, Ohio. The evening before her death she had spent with the hotel guests. She was found dead in the bed in the morning by her daughter.

Mrs. Evans was the widow of Charles Wesley Evans, a minister of more than half a century's activities. The funeral was held in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Sibley, at Palisade, June 12.

A beautiful tribute was paid to the memory of the deceased in an editorial captioned, "A Mother in Israel Gone," by the Palisadian, a newspaper published at Palisade, concluding with "So she lived and died a saint, if saints these be—and if there are not, she was at least saintly and beautiful in radiating so much that was good and true and loving, with deep-seated regard for the happiness of those with whom she came in contact. God bless her memory. She was a mother of Israel."

Following the receipt of word of the death, Judge Langley of this city sent a letter of condolence to the daughter, Mrs. Sibley, in which he tried to cheer the bereaved one, though his letter was written under an aching heart as the text of it, which was printed in full in the Palisadian, shows. He concludes his letter, with "I trust and hope you will all bear it bravely and with the faith that she had in immortality, and remember that your Uncle Ed will be in tears with you as long as he lives."

Notice of the funeral of Mrs. Evans in the Palisadian says that "one of the appealing incidents of the funeral was the fact that six grandsons were the pallbearers."

on his sweetheart's door by her rich old granddad.

"UNTAMED YOUTH" ON WALKER SCREEN.

Colorful, fascinating, and dramatically powerful, is the production "Untamed Youth" now playing at Walker's theater.

From a standpoint not only of artistic excellence, but in bigness of theme, it stands quite alone in the list of recent productions.

The cyclone scenes themselves, in which it seemed that all hell had broken loose in a tremendous fury of whirling wind, were skillfully handled. While violent in the extreme, they lacked entirely that "manufactured" appearance so common in similar episodes.

The cast itself, composed of many of filmdom's best known names, interpreted the gripping drama with masterful technique. Those who took part include Derelys Perdue, Lloyd Hughes and Ralph Lewis.

"A SON OF THE SAHARA" AT YOST TONIGHT.

Editing and titling a motion picture at sea in stormy weather is like going swimming in suit of armor, but that was the accomplishment of Director Edwin Carewe and Adelaide Heilbron, the scenario writer, in the final grooming of "A Son of the Sahara," which opens tonight at the Yost theater.

"A Son of the Sahara" was filmed in Algeria with an all-star cast, including Bert Lytell, Claire Windsor, Walter McGrail, Rosemary Theby, Montague Love and Paul Panzer.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, June 27.—Today was another session of rising prices, although the movement was characterized by considerable irregularity in the afternoon as a result of week-end profit taking.

But the realizing sales became heavy. Steel common crosses par at the head of a further vigorous advance among the active industrials, which appeared for the first time in several weeks to have gained a larger part of speculative interest than the rails.

Reactionary tendencies were swept aside in the final dealings by an outburst in the industrials. American Can went into new high ground on the present advance at 112 and General Electric 23 1/2, while Woolworth made a new high for the year at 110 and Kress Department Stores had a sensational spurt at 58 1/2, up more than 10 points from the low of the previous session.

The market closed regular. Closing prices:

U. S. Steel 99 1/4; Baldwin 114 1/4; Studabaker 33 1/4; American Wool 72 1/4; American Can 112 1/4; West 110 1/4; up 5 1/2; Schulte 121, up 1 1/2; Cuba Cane 60 1/4, up 1 1/2; Resse 67 1/2, up 7 1/2; Lehigh Valley 47 1/2, up 1 1/2; C. & O. 83 1/2, up 1 1/2; N. GRAIN PRICES DROP ON CHICAGO MARKET

(By United Press Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, June 27.—Grain sagged under profit taking and closed showing sharp losses for the day.

A strong feature in the trade was action in rye which closed considerable higher, due to poor crop outlook.

Active profit takers precluded early bull action and at the close wheat sagged. Numerous short movements upward found the market lacking sufficient absorbing power.

Selling in corn was induced by late weakness in wheat, better crop reports and pronounced falling off in cash business.

Oats sold off with other grains. The market held strong most of the session, but at the close sagged 1/4.

Provisions were irregular.

Apricot Price Higher Than Last Year

SAN JOSE, Calif., June 27.—Prices for dried apricots covering marketing of this year's crop were made public here today by the California Prune and Apricot Growers' association.

The prices, which are 2 to 5 cents higher than opening prices last year, govern the disposal of practically the entire dried apricot crop of California.

The schedule as announced was as follows:

Standards, 9 cents.
Slabs, 9 1/2 cents.
Choice, 13 1/2 cents.
Extra choice, 14 1/2 cents.
Pancys, 18 cents.
Extra fancy, 21 cents.

$3,500,000 in Canada Insurance

OTTAWA, Ont., June 27.—Three and one-half billion dollars is invested in life insurance in Canada.

The volume of insurance has increased 600 per cent since 1906, according to statistics compiled by the dominion insurance department.

Insurance now in force throughout Canada, the figures show, would be sufficient to keep 548,000 people in comfort for 80 years, to purchase 972,000 homes valued at $4,000 each or to give a thorough education to 1,550,000 children.

The preceding, filed in the district United States court here, is action in equity which asks an injunction against the defendant companies. Five concerns are named as the primary defendants and the remainder as secondary defendants: Gen. Charles G. Dawes, the Republican vice presidential nominee, is the moving spirit in the Pure Oil Co., named as one of the secondary defendants.

The complaint charges that the oil companies combined to control gasoline production by pooling patents rights in violation of the anti-trust act and also charges them with a combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade, and commerce among the several states and with foreign nations in kerosene, gasoline and other hydro-carbon products.

The secondary defendants are brought into the case through it, is alleged, their having accepted licenses for using the patents from one or more of the primary defendants. It is charged that some of the important patents have long since expired but the pooling has been effected on minor improvements.

Col. R. W. Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, claimed that the patent contracts of this concern have been in effect for years and stands ready to produce every one for adjudication as to their equity and propriety.

100 PER CENT DIVIDEND HOPE VANISHES

NEWARK, June 27.—Harry O. Eaton, a young man of persuasive manners and fluency of speech, has released business men of this village from their promises to purchase stock in an "automatic" need company of Syracuse. He had told his subscribers that his company had a large manufacturing in England and another in Connecticut, turning out millions of needles each company. The company, he said, was unable to supply the enormous demand and intended to construct a large plant in Syracuse. On the present volume of business the stock would pay 12 per cent dividends, and when the new factory was in operation the stock would assuredly pay 50 to 100 per cent.

After subscribing for stock business men learned that the promoter of the scheme had left Syracuse suddenly and had neglected to provide Mr. Eaton with sufficient means to continue his work. Mr. Eaton declared he had been duped to the extent of $300, Newark citizens who had pledged themselves to buy stock were promptly notified by Mr. Eaton and released from their pledges.

Asks $1,000,000 For Asylum Term

SACRAMENTO, June 27.—Meyer Kroft, former inmate of Napa state hospital, has written State Controller Ray H. Riley, asking $1,000,000 damages for alleged illegal commitment. Kroft also asks $10,700 additional for wages lost during the four years he was a

BIG OIL SUITS BRITON HAS RADIO MOVIES APPARATUS

LONDON, June 27.—Transmission of cinema pictures by radio has been achieved by J. L. Briton, an English inventor.

It is claimed that the picture can be transmitted so faithfully that every movement can be reproduced.

The system of transmission is as follows: Rays of light pass through holes in a revolving disc and are received on a selenium cell, producing electrical impulses, in the same way that music transmitted by wireless produces fluctuating impulses.

A device which seems to be somewhat similar, but employing the "prismatic ring" instead of perforated rotating discs, was invented some time ago by an American and is in operation in a Washington laboratory. The prismatic ring is of glass, and oscillating variable light ray is imparted to the selenium cell, which sets up similar modulations in the electrical circuit upon which it is impressed.

Do You Know What Causes Many Serious Accidents?

The newspapers are filled with stories of serious auto accidents. The number of fatal ones is alarming.

Many an accident would never have happened if the car had been in good condition.

Perhaps the brakes would not hold. Often the driver tries for a quick getaway and the motor will not pick up properly. Often the motor stalls when it should be getting the car out of danger.

Moral: Be sure your car is in good condition. The safest way is to let us go over it every month.

COUNTY LEAGUE SECOND PLACE MONEY LURE

Trickey to Lead Bean Men Against Fast Hollywood Merchant Maulers

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Van Dien-Young Co. at Laguna Beach; Anaheim at Santa Ana Commercial Co.; Hollywood Merchants at Irvine.

The right to claim second place and the championship series boogie that will follow in a play-off for the title with the Santa Ana Commercial will lure Laguna Beach's baseball team into the thick of battle Sunday afternoon against the Van Dien-Young company of this city. The match will be played at Skidmore park, Laguna Beach.

If Joe Sanford's Cavedwellers can knock off the Building Materials crowd they will clinch a tie with Arthur Trickey's Irvine Beaploppers for second place as Sunday's contests complete the Orange County league schedule.

Job For Magnates
In this case, league officials will have to decide whether a single game or a three-game series will be played between Laguna Beach and Irvine to decide second place. League rules call for a three-tilt match between the first and second place winners. The title goes to the winners of this play-off tourney.

On the face of things, Laguna Beach has clear sailing into this tie with Irvine as the cellar champions of the league. On the other hand, however, local fans will recall that almost all of the local squad's losses were by one and two run margins. A team with a pitcher like Thorpe always will be dangerous. It may be that the Van Dien-Youngs are ordained to rise up in this final struggle to third place.

Predict Banner Crowd
At any rate, Laguna Beach club officials predict the largest mob of the season and are making preparations to handle properly such a turnout.

The undefeated Commercial probably will advance although they are scheduled to hook up here with Anaheim.

Irvine draws a bye but Manager Trickey plans to keep his henchmen in tip-top form by playing the classy Hollywood Merchants at the cross-roads lot. Hollywood has lost but one of its last twenty starts and that to the Beaploppers. Trickey says the Cinema City crew is coming down loaded for action.

HOY LAKE, England, June 27.—Another sunny day met players as they started on the third round of the British open golf championship.

Playing superb golf, Hagen tied Whitecombe with 224 for the first 54 holes. Nichols turned in a card of 232. Hagen as a result of the morning play is a hot favorite to win the championship. Cyrus Tolley ran into difficulty on his third round and turned in a total of 235 for the 54 holes while J. H. Taylor, the "old timer" got down among the leaders with 228.

The Kelly Roofing company's bowling quintette had one exceptionally good game at the A. and B. alleys here last night and as a result got a fifty-fifty break of the four points with the Santa Ana Lucky Five. This virtually assured the Kellys of a safe voyage the rest of the Santa Ana Boosters' league season out of the cellar.

With Shields rolling 217 and Kelly knocking off a 200, the rest of the roofing outfit came to life in the second game and ran up a 939 total, one of the best competition marks of the year.

In a series that will have an important bearing on the pennant, the Givens-Cannon pharmacy will take on the league leading Orange Standard Oils tonight. If the drugists can upset the visitors, the American Legion five will have an excellent chance to annex the banner. The scores:

MORTON KAER, TROJAN STAR, IS ONE OF AMERICA'S HOPES IN PENTATHLON IN OLYMPIAD

The pentathlon demands versatility. Morton Kaer of the University of Southern California is Mr. Handy Andy himself. This being so, Uncle Sam expects him to cut quite a figure in the coming pentathlon at the Olympic Games.

America should pick up about 70 points in the field events at Paris. This is a modest calculation, well within the team's ability.

In some events, there will scarcely be a flag on the pole save the Stars and Stripes; in some, it must be admitted, our team probably will not win a place.

When we consider the performance of the shot-putters at Cambridge a couple of days before the American contingent sailed for Paris, and realize that Charley Eastman of Harvard and Lieutenant Liversedge, U. S. N., couldn't even qualify with heaves of 47 feet 3 inches, we realize how preponderant is this country's strength in this event. There are few weight men in Europe doing better than 45 feet, and the best of our men—"Bud" Houser and Glen Hartruff of California—will do better than 50 feet next month.

In the javelin throw and the discus, however, anything the United States gets will be welcome. The showing made by our javelin hurlers at the final tryouts at Cambridge was woefully weak. From the press box, it looked as though Whelchell, Neufeldt and Priestler were handling their javelins rather clumsily, and all had trouble with the line from behind, which they were required to throw.

In the pole vault, it is just the other way around. We have Spearow of Oregon, Lee Barnes, the high school kid from Hollywood, Jim Brooker of Michigan and George Graham of California Tech, all capable of better than 13 feet. They might well be tied for first place against the world, although if Hoff, the great Sandnavian vaulter, is in shape, he has bettered 13 feet 6 inches. Hoff had the misfortune to tear the ligaments in his leg while training early this month, and was advised not to enter the Olympics.

Our high jumpers are the best of the world, Osborne and LeRoy Brown particularly, with Tom Poor likely to beat either of them. The United States should account for first and several other places in the high jump.

In the running broad jump it is difficult to find in any other country's aggregation a threat to the supremacy of DeHart Hubbard, the sensational negro leaper of Michigan. The boy will break the world's record, if he is right; without any great effort he leaped 25 feet 3-8 inches at Cambridge a fortnight ago. When the team sailed, E. O. Gourdin, another negro, holder of the world's record of 25 feet 3 inches, was limping about the deck with a sore tendon, but if this is entirely well by next week, it may be Gourdin, instead of Hubbard, who will take first place. But we can chalk up 15 points in this event for the U. S. A., thanks to two of our negro citizens.

The running hop-step-and-jump and the hammer throw are unknown quantities, chiefly because we do not know just what strength exists among the representatives of the other nations. We might pick up several useful points in both these events.

Of course, the United States faces stiffer competition this year than ever before. Nations that never had an Olympic team will be in there trying. An occasion flash of superability in any event by some obscure athlete means 10 points gone to glory. But the well-balanced, all-around team that is representing the United States is set to meet the test.

Suzanne Easily Vanquishes Mrs. Wightman Without Loss of Single Game

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WIMBLEDON, June 27.—America started off with a win in the fourth round of the Wimbledon tennis tournament here today.

R. Norris Williams defeated A. N. Dudley in the opening match of the day 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

Suzanne Lenglen defeated Mrs. George Wightman, former American champion, 6-0, 6-0, in the fourth round today.

"Vinnie" Richards won his match against D. M. Greig, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5. One of the hardest battles to be fought out during the tournament came in the elimination of the British women's team, Mrs. Satterthwaite and Miss Harvey, by two Americans, Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup and Miss Eleanor Goss. The match was in straight sets but each set was deuced many times. The score was 9-7, 12-10.

Balloon Railroad

Balloon power is to be used on a unique railroad in Bavaria to haul cars to the summit of a mountain peak. The big bag, fastened to a small passenger car, is sixty-six feet in diameter and has a lifting power of 10,500 pounds. The car will run on a single T-shaped rail which is anchored to the ground. By allowing 3,300 pounds for passengers and crew and 4,260 pounds for the balloon, ropes and car, a margin of 2,640 pounds is left in favor of the gas-bag "engine" so that it will not be stalled on the upward climb. In descending, gravity is the only force required and water ballast provides the necessary extra weight to make the down grade.—Popular Mechanics.

Practical Notes On S. S. Lesson

BY CAL OGBURN

Lesson for June 29. REVIEW.

In our review of the quarter's lessons we are looking back on a period of almost five and a half centuries, a century and a quarter longer than from the present time to the discovery of America by Columbus. And that which particularly attracts our attention is the slow and intermittent—but sure—decline of Israel, marked at last by the fall of the nation that had divided under the arrogant king, Rehoboam.

And this division of the kingdom, says someone, overlooking the fact that the decline of the nation had progressed far during the reign of Solomon, was the beginning of a series of misfortunes and disasters that befell Israel, that would have been averted if Rehoboam had not been the tyrant that he was. He was rash, selfish and dogmatic, the outcome of which was the successful revolt of the ten tribes. If he had been considerate and wise in dealing with the people this would have been avoided. And this seems reasonably to account for all that happened then and subsequently. Therefore, the lesson, we are told, for all who are in official authority now, lies on the surface.

To preserve the unity, and consequently the strength, of a nation let those who occupy these places refrain from being arbitrary and unreasonable in their exercise of power. This would have saved Israel, and it will save America—if America should ever need "saving," which, like the people of Israel, we are unwilling to admit. Officials, who are discreet and just in discharging their duties, are a nation's safeguard, they tell us. And this seems plausible, in the light of what resulted from Rehoboam's injustice and indiscretion. But—is it so, to the extent that they would have us believe?

Again it is said that what Israel should have had from time to time, to keep the nation united and secure from attack, was the finesse of a skilled diplomat. One who could have formulated a kind of "gentleman's agreement," as there was need for it, and induced its acceptance and observance. Or, better still, instituted a League of Nations, in which the autonomy of Israel would have been guaranteed by "the powers." An "alliance," if properly formed, would have been an assurance of Israel's preservation and prosperity.

And this, too, seems a most reasonable explanation, and also definitely point the way that any and every nation should proceed. For how could there be the downfall of a nation so upheld and safeguarded? This seems so evident, so full of assurance, it is in this way that the governments of the world are bending their efforts.

Alas! Alas! righteousness before God, as the first and the last safeguard of both the individual and the nation, is lost sight of today, as in the time of Israel. And more is the pity. We are short-sighted. In some form Israel tried all the methods that are so much talked about and experimented with in these days—and to no avail. Nor will the success be any better now, unless back of all diplomacy, and interwoven with it, there is due recognition of Almighty God and of his Sovereignty over the lives and laws of men and nations. The great need of today—the need above all others—is the exemplification of righteousness. It was Israel's supreme need, and for lack of it Israel declined and fell.

More definitely, the lack of righteousness marked the decline of Israel. And just so it is the index to the stability—or the lack of it—of every form of human government. America, with her great wealth and millions of population, is no more secure with these than without them, provided unrighteousness dominates the lives of her people. It should never be lost sight of, that it is righteousness that exalteth a nation.

Our philosophy today is material rather than spiritual. Let us hope, and believe, that it is only temporary, and that it will pass away before permanent injury has been wrought. But this it will not do unless those who still retain their normal moral warn those whose sight is defective. There is danger ahead, and the crisis can only be averted by a timely recognition of it.

Lassen Peak

One of the scenic wonders of California which is deserving of more attention at this season when the world is taking to the open roads, is the only volcano in the United States, Lassen Peak. Perhaps the fault has been a rather easy acceptance of the belief that a volcano needs no press agent and speaks for itself, and, again, it may be that the public is not informed of the wonders which may be seen in the Lassen National Park regardless of whether Lassen happens to be throwing up a column of smoke.

The park has attractions of a character different than anything to be found in the country. It has grotesquely cut formations, glittering beds of rock, gigantic upheavals, wonderful vistas, and an amazing conglomeration of scenic and geological marvels.

In its way Lassen Peak is deserving of as much attention as any of those others which have benefited by more years of publicity. The cities nearby have yet to accept the opportunity to spread the news and the invitation, but there are indications that they will do so.

This year will see more visitors to Lassen than last and each visitor will pass on the word of what he has seen. California should place Lassen Park under the top of the list of attractions to be offered the tourist.—Oakland Tribune.

GARDEN GROVE, June 27.—
Mark Morrill and Emerson Beardsley left Wednesday for Porters-ville and Tulare where they will spend a week's vacation.
Frank Rogers and family accompanied by Paul Dozier and Jessie Wade are spending two weeks at Bishop.
Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Gallienne were visitors in Riverside on Thursday.

The regular card party, under the auspices of the Woman's Civic club will be held Tuesday evening, July 1. On Tuesday evening, July 8, an apron and overall dance will be given to which club members and their friends are invited.
A good orchestra has been secured for the evening and a jolly time is anticipated.

Rev. and Mrs. David B. Looft-burrow accompanied by their daughters, leave next Tuesday for Strawberry Flats where they will spend their summer vacation. With the exception of Rev. Looftburrow, the family will not return until September, when Miss Edna Looft-burrow will teach in the junior high school at Poma and Miss Fay will attend the Southern Branch of the University of California.

Miss Ruth Violet is enjoying a house party at Balboa this week.
The sorority of Redlands University of which she is a member,
make this outing an annual event.
At the Violet hospital, June 24, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Morgan of Huntington Beach.

F. E. Bisett and family accompanied by Mrs. Jessie Wade and children left Thursday for Mod-jeska's Home to spend a week at the cabin of the former.

H. A. Lake and son Charles and Mr. Bowers and son of Santa Ana returned Tuesday from a motor trip in the north.

Mrs. E. M. Kaufman accompanied by her little daughter went to Riverside Tuesday, having been called there by the death of Mr. Kaufman, who had been ill for several years at the home of his mother. Mrs.
Kaufman is a sister of Mrs. W. P.
Dunlap and is employed in the Palace Grocery.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chaffee motored to Stanford University recently to attend the graduating exercises of their son Clair. They were also accompanied by the former's sister, Miss Leila Chaffee who will attend summer school in Santa Barbara. Clair returned to Garden Grove with his parents.

T. E. Pickerill attended a meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county held Thursday evening in Anaheim at the Elks' clubhouse.

Rev. Francis G. Watkins and family returned from Los Angeles where they attended the annual conference of the Free Methodist.
Mr. Watkins has been appointed to the local Free Methodist church for another year.

George Harper graduated from the deaf department of the Sixteenth street school in Los Angeles on Thursday evening, there being six members of the class. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harper and family attended the exercises.

The following enjoyed a picnic supper at Orange county park Tuesday evening: Miss Jessie Dungan of Santa Ana, Miss Lova Holt,

Peace Plans

People who are interested in the ultimate triumph of peace over war, and that means all thoughtful people except a few profiteers, will learn with amazement that the response to the offer of Edward A.
Filene, Boston philanthropist, to French people of a prize of 200,000 francs for the best suggestions which should reach toward a permanent peace plan, reached to more than 5200 contributions. From all sorts and conditions of people they came and the examination of them is in itself a huge task. Mr.
Filene's offer was different from that of Mr. Bok, in our own country, in that he offered several prizes, and that he is doing the same thing in Great Britain, Germany and Italy also, in the hope that by this practically world-wide competition, such ideas shall be developed as will permit of the working out of a useful plan, perhaps formulated from several of them.

Now the French jury is going to take at least three months to study the plans. Doubtless many of them will be eliminated at the outset but it is a revelation to some, no doubt, but not to those who have spent time in France recently, to see the great interest shown in the subject, for France has suffered so greatly from devastations of war, she probably seeks relief as ardently as any nation.

The Facts has all along contended that the peace plan ultimate determination here at home should not come until we have had an opportunity to hear from the European countries. We have no monopoly of the wisdom of the world on this side of the Atlantic.
And the subject is one of such large importance, all personalities must be suppressed in the study of it, so that when we move in that direction, we shall have nothing but the best ideas worked out of a world-wide experience and thought.—Redlands Facts.

Miss Elizabeth Brown, Miss Florence Pearson, Miss Clara Erickson, Miss Myrtle Zeigler, Mrs. Emily
Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bryan, and Mr. John Pearson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schnitzer are the proud parents of a seven-pound boy, Arthur Wallace, born Tuesday evening at the Santa Ana hospital.

Mrs. A. D. Hoenshel attended
"The Ten Commandments" at Hollywood on Wednesday.

The Home Economics club will meet next Tuesday afternoon, July 1, at the home of Mrs. Homer Nicholas; the topic for discussion is the "Family Budget."

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smiley,
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Roosevelt were Long Beach visitors Wednesday evening.

A large crowd attended the annual picnic of the Methodist Sunday school last Tuesday at the Orange county park. There was a bountiful supply of good eats for everyone. Boating and games were enjoyed throughout the day. Although Carrier Walker and Mr.
James Bragg met with accidents and had to be brought home they are reported as recovering quickly.

CHINESE GIRLS' EDUCATION IS LETTER TOPIC

The advance of education in China and how popular it is becoming with the girls, young men and women of that country, is the subject of a letter which has been received from Viola C. Hill of Santa Ana, sister of Albert F. Hill of Hill and Son Hardware company. Miss Hill has been a missionary for fifteen years, the last nine of which have been spent in China. Prior to that time she was a missionary at Porto Rico.

The Northern Baptist missionary board, the organization which is supporting Miss Hill and other missionaries in China and in other foreign countries, is aiding in the education of the Chinese, and Miss Hill is in charge of a school at Ningpo, in which the Bible and the English language are taught.

out on parade; students from mission schools, from private and government schools, from the Y. M. C. A. girls and boys, women and children, all carrying banners and flags. The banners said, "Educated people can help China." "Now is your chance to study."

"There have been various attempts on the part of missionaries and educated Chinese to raise the percentage of literacy in China by working out systems of romanized letters, of phonetic script and simplified characters, but none has been of much general success because of the difference in dialects and lack of teachers who could apply a system when once worked out.

Not long ago a Mr. Yi (pronounced yee) returned to China after graduating from Yale. He was anxious to do something for his country men and women to get an education and so worked out the ideas and plan now called the "Popular Education Schools." These have been and are being opened in many cities and towns in China. In Ningpo the Y. M. C. A. conducted such a school as an experiment last fall and now the churches, regular schools and individuals are conducting 29 such schools this spring. Mr. Yi has gone to many places and helped the leaders organize the work.

Coming in Evening
"A church, regular school, business firm, factory, or individual loans a room or rooms for an hour a day. The students are men and boys over 12 years of age who come for an hour each evening or are women and girls over 12 years who come for an hour each afternoon at 3 or 4 o'clock. The teachers are older students in our regular high schools, young business men, young women who have graduated from our schools but do this as extra work. The course lasts four months and consists of the thousands most frequently used characters.

"Mr. Yi and his associates have prepared text-books, four, each with 250 characters, and divided into lessons with ten new characters each day and a review at the end of the month. The cost of each school is about $25. American money, to pay $10 to the one teacher who takes the responsibility and is present for each session of the school, $10 for the text-books and slates furnished each pupil, and $5 for chalk, record books, and janitor work. The attendance at each school here in Ningpo varies from 40 to 150, according to the size of room available, number of volunteer teachers and the neighborhood. In each case more have applied for entrance than could be accommodated. Of the twenty-nine schools seven are for women and twenty-two for men.

"During the Chinese New Year vacation and the first week of the spring term the girls of my school (junior high and grades below) raised $25 ($50 Chinese money) to open a popular education school for women and girls. This was to be held in the West Gate Baptist church at 4 o'clock every afternoon. The church there financed and operated the school for men and boys at night. On the Saturday afternoon before March 5 when the school would open all my girls and teachers had a parade in the West Gate neighborhood, stopping in doorways to invite the women and girls to come. On the opening day about 120 were there but the average attendance since has been about 80. Besides the woman acting as regular teacher, every day four of my older girls and two or three from the Christian Home-makers School go there to help teach. They use charts, pictures and slates besides the text-books.

Plan Programs
"Now our girls are beginning to plan a program of music, drills, plays to be given soon to raise the money for another such school next fall.

"Mr. Yi and the committee working with him are now preparing and having printed books about Christianity, civics, sanitation, etc. using these first thousand characters. The books are paper bound and the price within the reach of all, three or four cents per copy. They are also preparing the text-books for any of these present pupils who wish to continue their study in a second course. After learning the second thousand characters practically all of the New Testament can be read just as it is now written, and much of the Old Testament.

"This movement is doing good to the many who are pupils in these schools and also to those acting as volunteer teachers, for they are learning how to pass on the education they have received in a definite way. It is bringing

PERSONAL NOTES OF LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, June 27.—Ida Strawn Baker of Indianapolis, Ind., has leased a house for the summer and is organizing a class and will teach Arts and Crafts, making a specialty of batik work. Mrs. Baker will have her class in the Washburn Studios on Coast boulevard.

Miss Mabel Beall and Miss Susan Weibrecht have returned to their beautiful home at Arch Beach to spend the summer.

Emily Roach of Chicago, Ill., was a visitor at the Laguna Beach Art association the past week. Miss Roach, who has been a teacher in the Chicago Institute of Art, said that the Laguna Beach Art association had a very high average and showed some excellent talent. Miss Roach is very enthusiastic about the beach and expressed her intention of making an early visit to Laguna.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Guyer of Pasadena spent the week-end at their Arch Beach home.

Helen Smith of Whittier, California, called at the Art Gallery on Monday. Miss Smith is one of the many into touch with our churches and mission work that have never been reached before and is opening many homes to the Gospel message.

exhibitors of the Laguna Beach Art Gallery and her pictures in water color entitled "Still Life" and "The Village" are now on exhibition.

Mr. H. Leathard Burns of Los Angeles is spending the week with his brother A. R. Burns of this city. Mr. H. L. Burns is the chief clerk with the California Truck company, and he is an enthusiastic admirer of Laguna Beach.

Miss Margaret Baker and Miss Jeanette Buckley of Monrovia were visitors at the beach last week. Both Miss Baker and Miss Buckley have pictures on exhibit at the gallery of the Laguna Beach Art association.

A very charming birthday supper was given by Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Burns in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Burt Sutton, her mother, Mrs. E. R. Curtis and Mr. Ben Glover.

The supper was given on the beach and among the dainties they had a huge angel food cake, ice cream and hot coffee.

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Burt Sutton and daughter, Valerie, Mrs. Neva Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schroder, Mr. Palmer of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Glover of Long Beach, Theodore West, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Burns, and their children, Marjorie and Curtis.

Mr. Earle Huggins of Pasadena was a caller at the Laguna Beach Art gallery on Sunday. Two of his paintings, "The Road to the Camp" and "In the High Sierras," are now on exhibit.

Rehearsals of plays have now commenced and Mr. Gerwing, the director, is very enthusiastic and

BEACH PAPER'S STOCKHOLDERS HOLD SACK

LONG BEACH, June 27.—Deputy Corporation Commissioner H. A. I. Welch today prepared to report to the district attorney and the grand jury the outcome of a preliminary hearing before him, which disclosed a remarkably condition in connection with the failure of the Long Beach Sun, a "stockholders' newspaper," wherein these stockholders are liable to the amount of $143,000, he said.

The stockholders, who under the certain of their success.

The Orange county road gang is still at work improving the streets and roads in and around Laguna Beach. Streets are being graded, leveled and oiled in all parts of town. This work is very essential as the roads previously were in deplorable condition. The traffic is very heavy at all times and on Sundays and holidays thousands of vehicles pass over these roads.

The Laguna canyon road is open the entire way, no more detour, and the two miles of surfaced highway is but a generous sample of what the entire canyon road will be like when completed.

California law, may be called upon to make up the deficit showing on the corporation's books, seemed unaware of the fact that a newspaper losing money may lose it with great rapidity. They had been assured by newspapermen that the Sun would be a financial success.

Much of the sock in the Long Beach Sun was sold to persons of small earning capacity on the familiar "unit plan," whereby they received two shares of preferred and one share of common stock, of a par value of $30, for $20. Many purchased on the installment plan.

Following the initiation of a friendly suit in the superior court to have a receiver appointed, W. E. Garner was named and thereafter many complaints were received by the corporation commissioner. Miss Adele Vital, a cook in the employ of E. T. Chase, original promoter of the newspaper, was among these complainants.

Frank F. Merriam, speaker of the last assembly and Southern California spokesman for Governor Richardson, together with L. N. Wheaton, formerly mayor of Long Beach, were at one time leading figures in the Sun's activities but whether they were directors at the time the oversubscription of stock was authorized was not brought out at the hearing.

The present officers are Ross Ab-dill, Long Beach real estate operator, president; Andrew C. Ripley of Los Angeles, vice president; C. C. Lewis, Long Beach jeweler and former president of the chamber of commerce there, vice president; Miss Louise Hylam, secretary; George Hart, attorney.

HOME WITH BEAUTY AND SPACE COMBINED

Prospective home builders may study many plans before they will find one that has more beauty or distinction than the story-and-a-half house shown here.

The long slope of the roof, the wide porch, with overhanging roof and artistically curved porch frame, the gabled dormer in the roof and the exposed roof rafters all combine to give the house an unusually attractive exterior.

Across the front of the house are the living and dining rooms, connected with a double opening. With the opening between the two rooms, there is an expanse of 32 feet 6 inches, the width of the house.

Adjoining the living room at the back is a den, 10 by 12 feet 6 inches. Between the dining room and the kitchen is a breakfast room, with a Pullman nook. At the end of the hall running out of the living room is a bedroom, suitable for a maid's room. Upstairs are two bedrooms, one at the front and one at the back. In one end gable there is a bedroom, 12 by 15 feet, and in the other a large bathroom.

The dimensions of the house are 34 by 44 feet. It is of frame construction set on a concrete foundation, with a basement of the same dimensions. The cost of this house will be close to $12,000, dependent on the materials used, the elaborateness of the heating, lighting and plumbing and the labor conditions in the community where it is desired to build.

Tell Riverside's
July 4 Schedule

The Fourth of July program which is being arranged at Riverside promises to be one of the most attractive and unique in the history of entertainment in California. Reports received here today are any criterion. The scope of events ranges from horse races and rodeo performances, athletic sports and clown stunts at the fair grounds, to patriotic services, water carnival, aquatic sports and fireworks display at Fairmount park. The Southern California Fair association, assisted by the park board and a citizens' committee, is to be in charge.

The racing program includes four harness and four running events, with a mule race, a cowboy race and boy and girls' pony races programmed. At Fairmount park, the entertainment will begin at 4:30 p. m. o'clock. In the evening a water carnival, in which there will be a parade of floats depicting famous historic events, is to be featured.

CHURCH HAS PROBLEM
Attorney General Griffith of Kansas has the problem of deciding whether interference with radio sermons violates the state law against interference with religious worship. It was put up by the members of a little church at Norway, Kas., when sermons it received from Omaha were being interfered with by a closer station.

COUNTY Y BOYS' CAMP NAMED 'OSCEOLA'

The Orange county Y. M. C. A. boys' camp, now being held in the San Bernardino mountains, will be known as Camp Osceola, according to a statement made today by George Chessum, county secretary. The name was adjudged the best from a large assortment mailed into the local offices from boys over all the county who competed for a two weeks' free camp by suggesting names for the new camp. The winner is Jack Scott of the Placentia Y. M. C. A., who stated in his letter that Osceola was an Indian name and meant "rising sun."

"I think it is a very appropriate name," he said, "for the camp of an institution whose purpose is to make each boy a 'rising sun' in every way."

Forty Santa Ana boys have signed up for the Santa Ana camp which opens July 1. The Orange "Y" boys are now in camp, and will vacate on the first of the month to make way for the local group. Reports from the Orange camp indicate that the camp is the best that the local "Y" boys have ever had, and Santa Ana boys for the past several days have been getting ready.

Although fifty-six boys will be permitted to go from here for the two weeks, indications are that there will be only about forty-five boys to go from the local "Y," according to a statement made by James McQuill, local boys' department leader.

Announcement was made also that Camps 4 and 5, for boys of the Anaheim and coast city districts, would be combined, and that they would go into camp July 29 to August 12. It was stated that the sixth camp, slated for older "Y" boys from all of the county for August 26 to September 6, would be moved up two weeks.

P. E. Cars Using
But One Track
As Trench Dug

Deciding it was not feasible either to bridge or crib the excavation between the Pacific Electric tracks on Fourth street while the new sewer is being constructed, engineers for the company today closed the north track.

Beginning at 7 a. m. today, all traffic to and from Los Angeles was carried over one track between Ross street and the railroad stations. This plan will be followed, officials said, until the work of laying the new sewer is completed, or for about thirty days.

City Engineer W. G. Knox instructed the contractors to begin excavation, following a conference with the company engineers here Thursday afternoon at the city hall.

During the past few years the most of the higher government schools in China have opened their doors to young women students. Mrs. Barbara Wootton, who is acknowledged to be one of Britain's foremost authorities in economics, is but twenty-seven years old.

Mrs. Blanche Reno, commandant of the Salvation Army work in Topeka, Kans., has been a member of the Army since she was one month old.

In the dark ages abbreviated signs were much in demand for the preservation of records.

U. S. Printing

The size of Congress' printing bill represents one of the oldest congressional weaknesses, but there does seem to be something faintly excessive in a casual request by Senator Capper for "leave to print" which would cost the government $330,000. The senator was so struck by the educational value of an article on the perils of narcotics that he asked for fifty million copies of it, to be distributed as a Senate document. One can forgive the public printer for responding with a cost estimate which has considerable educational value in itself. The paper would cost $183,771, the envelopes $147,539—and that leaves out of account the work itself. If congressional speeches are occasionally depressing, congressional silences are becoming terrible, filled up as they are by resort to the government printing office and the franking privilege. What the constituents do with the "literature" when they get it has never been discovered; but as an ingenious advertising device there are startling merits in a scheme under which the prospect, who in this case is the taxpayer, pays for the publicity.—New York Herald-Tribune.

MARGUERITE CLARK, FORMER IDOL OF SCREEN, HAPPY IN HOME FAR FROM HOLLYWOOD

MARGUERITE CLARK

By MARGUERITE CLARK (Famous Stage and Screen Star
Who Has Retired and Is Now
Mrs. Harry P. Williams)

PATTERSON, La., June 27.—I have given up fame for happiness. No longer do I see my name in the lights of Broadway or Main street. The millions who once watched my acting have, perhaps, largely forgotten me.

Through trains do not stop at the town where now I live—they roar past, Hollywood-bound, and I have no regrets. Only the slow locals pause here. But I am playing my greatest role, the greatest role in any woman's life. I play to an audience of one—my husband—in a theater, which is my home.

Raises Chickens.
Less than six years ago we were married and I retired to this home. Calls came for me to return, but no golden promises of fame and fortune could lure me.

I find happiness in raising chickens, in working among my flowers, in raising dogs and attending to other duties so dear to a woman's heart. I believe I could find similar happiness if I had to work hard in a smaller home.

My only regret is that I know so little. I wish, when a girl, I had learned all the duties of a housewife. Sometimes I send the servants away just to see what a good time I can have. And while the food may be a little hard on Mr. Williams, I certainly enjoy myself.

What a contrast between the rush of movie life and the ease of the home!

One day on a movie lot producing a big picture is more enervating, requires greater exertion and takes a greater toll of physical and mental stamina than weeks of toil as a housewife.

Home More Beautiful.
You never can be your natural self. You sometimes have to portray characters that are not pleasing to your sensibilities. There is never any rest.

In the pictures we become overly ambitious. We forget the gentler, kinder sides of life. All our efforts seem directed to seeing our names in big type and bright lights.

In the home a woman's work is a labor of love. Her ambition is to please those who surround her. No work seems hard. There are no late hours, except on special occasions. And when a woman is tired she can rest.

The construction of a home is more beautiful than any scenery ever painted. It is something real. A picture at best lasts only a few years, but what we do in the home goes on and on.

Her Own Flowers.
In the pictures and on the stage I received many flowers, but they usually were bought for me.

Here at home I raise my own flowers. I see them grow from tiny seed. I see the rain fall on them and the sun smile on them. They are a part of me.

My pets, growing from tiny things to maturity, also feel to be a part of me. I see my husband and my friends happy.

Of course, if a girl wants to slave, if she wants to suffer the pangs of ambition, if she wants to fight temptations, if she has genius, beauty, money to be independent and the stage and movies call her, I say give it a trial.

But always look to the future, because some day in the life of every woman the happiness of home will loom and she should be ready to go.

GREG BEATS MOORE AND RETAINS TITLE

NEW YORK, June 27.—From over around the English channel has come another fighting machine with a heart and an iron jaw—Ted Moore. For fifteen rounds last night he stayed on while 40,000 fight fans urged Harry Greb, middleweight champion, to put over the knockout. It was the feature event of the milk fund show at the Yankee stadium. Greb won the decision in 15 rounds. Moore won plaudits for his gameness.

Young Stribling was awarded an unpopular decision over Tommy Loughran in the semi-final. Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight, won by a technical knockout from Ermilio Spalla in the seventh round. Harley Stridger defeated Panama Joe Gans.

500 Employees of Firm Sign Pledge To Aid Prosperity

A. E. Nicholls, president of the Nicholls Grain and Milling company at Los Angeles, began what he called a "Good Times" movement, it was reported here today, when he sought to counter any talk of hard times, which condition in reality, he declared does not exist.

This movement was launched at the annual picnic of the company at Anaheim Landing last week, when 600 employees of the company signed the "prosperity pledge."

The pledge, signed by virtually every employee, reads: "Believing that Good Times and prosperity now exist and will continue to grow better each month, if we do our part; believing in the glorious future, as well as the present; we pledge ourselves to think only Good Times, to talk only Good Times, and, as far as possible, to counteract any talk of hard times, which we believe do not really exist."

IS AWARDED CONTRACT.

P. S. Bishop, contractor here, has been awarded a contract to build in Los Angeles a $50,000 walnut packing house for Rosenberg Brothers and Company, of San Francisco. He also has a crew at work building a similar plant for the Riverside Walnut Growers' association, Riverside. He and C. B. Newman of the San Joaquin Fruit company plan to leave here tomorrow for San Francisco, on business.

Thousands know it is "The Ideal Spread." Wonderful, too, for cooking and for sauces.

Garden Grove Aid Elects Officers

GARDEN GROVE, June 27.—The all-day meeting of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary societies of the Methodist church was held in the church parlors Wednesday. The morning session opened with a song. Mrs. Fred Andres conducting the devotions. Mrs. C. Franks presided at the business meeting and Mrs. Frank Monroe, Mrs. Frank Mills and Mrs. R. E. Geren were appointed as "eats" committee for the July meeting.

A delicious luncheon was served at noon and immediately following Mrs. James Bragg led the devotions. After the regular business was disposed of, the Home Missionary society elected the following officers: President, Mrs. William Schnitzer; vice president, Mrs. A. D. Hoenshel; secretary, Mrs. Fred Andres; treasurer, Mrs. A. W. Stanley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. E. Geren; superintendent, Queen Esther society, Mrs. Frank Monroe; secretary, evangelism, Mrs. J. W. Steele; stewardship, Mrs. Susan Chaffee; literature, Mrs. W. M. Adland; mite box, Mrs. Edward Chaffee; mother's jewels, Mrs. E. R. Schneider; supplies, Mrs. Harvey Newsom; deaconess work, Mrs. George R. Reyburn; hospital work, Mrs. C. C. Vogle. Mrs. J. O. Arkley and Mrs. W. M. Adland were appointed program committee for the coming year. Mrs. C. Franks gave an interesting account of the island of Haiti, San Domingo. Although natural conditions there are of the very best the country has been nearly ruined by wars and revolutions instigated chiefly by selfish politicians. In 1921 a board composed of representatives of the Presbyterian, United Brethren and Methodist churches was formed in order to do evangelism work in the island.

Mrs. Ed Schneider and Mrs. J. O. Arkley read interesting pamphlets after which the meeting adjourned.

News From Orange County

ORANGE PACKINGHOUSE HAS REMARKABLY GOOD RECORD; QUICK RETURNS OBTAINED

ORANGE, June 27.—The J. McInnes packing house at Orange has shown a remarkably good record for returns for Valencia shipments to date. Although this firm has not shipped as many cars so far as at the corresponding date last year because of market conditions yet it has made an excellent record on fruit consigned for the growers.

Three cars shipped from an orchard in North Orange county showed an average of $3.66 per hundred pounds for all grades and sizes. The check for the fruit was in the hands of the grower within twenty days after the fruit was shipped.

Although operating on this plan for the immediate present, this firm remains a cash house, and will continue to buy for cash in the future.

Mr. McInnes stated that the few citrus growers who have been inclined to complain of the light setting of fruit for next year are somewhat premature. He pointed out that, after the June drop, the setting usually looks brighter than it does a few months later, and that it is impossible to forecast the size of the next crop, even approximately, at this time.

COAST HIGHWAY TO BE OPENED IN 4 MONTHS

NEWPORT BEACH, June 27.—Within four months there will be a direct coast highway from the northern California State line to Newport Beach and within a short period thereafter, a continuous highway from Newport, through Serra to the Mexican line below San Diego.

This is according to announcement made yesterday by representatives of the J. F. Beal Construction company who have the work in charge and are ready to proceed with the laying of concrete within a short time after the completion of the grading work which is now in progress. It is estimated that the Corona Del Mar grading to the Santa Ana river bridge will have been completed by the first of next week. This will leave about forty-five days work on the other side of the river to Huntington Beach.

Immediately after this the completion of the grading work which is now in progress. It is estimated that the Corona Del Mar grading to the Santa Ana river bridge will have been completed by the first of next week. This will leave about forty-five days work on the other side of the river to Huntington Beach.

The completion of this work by the end of the summer will mean that with an exception of about ten miles in the vicinity of Oxnard there will be a complete paved highway all the way from the Oregon line directly through California to Mexico with Newport and Balboa on the direct route.

The foregoing is only a portion of the highway work that will have the effect of enhancing the value of beach property and placing this section directly in touch with a major portion of the State automobile travel.

BEACH TRUSTEES URGED TO TAKE STEPS TO BUY WATER PLANT TO BE RUN BY CITY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 27.—That the question of purchasing the water company from the Huntington Beach company, will come before the local city trustees at their next regular meeting is regarded as probable by local citizens who have been talking the matter over for some time.

At a recent meeting of the representatives of the various clubs and civic organizations of the city the plan was talked over to some length and it was proposed at that meeting that the city might go as far as to purchase the water rights on some good land near the city limits which might supply the water in the future.

That the reservoir at the present time is growing too small with the growth of the city was also pointed out, and it was said that the reservoir would have to be enlarged in the near future. According to James Morris of this city, the Huntington Beach company would entertain an offer on their water system at this time.

Some discussion has also been heard on the advisability of having a municipally owned power and lighting plant. Many people are in favor of this but it is doubtful if any steps will be taken on this matter by the city trustees. Among the many people of the city who are in favor of the city owned water system are C. P. Patton, president of the local chamber of commerce, J. Ed Huston, prominent local realtor, and Chris King, local realtor.

El Toro Club Has Meeting At Tustin

EL TORO, June 27.—Members of the Woman's club were pleasantly entertained at the Tustin home of Mrs. Eugene Ahern, when she opened her home for a picnic dinner. The guests were seated at tables, under a canopy on the lawn. The tables fairly groaned with friend chicken, salads, cakes, pickles, olives, potato chips, baked beans, jams, jellies, coffee and punch which comprised a menu fit for a king.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Raymond Prothero entertained with piano music, while the rest of the women visited and did their various bits of sewing. Capt. and Mrs. George Huddy joined the party after luncheon, home affairs preventing their coming earlier, much to the regret of their friends. Others enjoying Mrs. Ahern's hospitality were Mrs. H. SUFFERED TWO YEARS SAYS MRS. F. J. QUINN

Stomach Trouble Affected Heart, Says Topeka Lady.

"When I got rid of indigestion I got rid of what some thought was heart trouble, too," recently stated Mrs. Frank J. Quinn, 403 Lime St., Topeka, Kans.

"For two or three years before I took Tanlac gas would form on my stomach and often cause such a painful pressure against my heart that I would almost attack me unawares and I was afraid to ride the street cars, sit in a show, go out alone. They would attack me in the night and nearly cut off my breath. My nerves were all upset, too, and I was so worried and miserable I could hardly stand it."

"A few bottles of Tanlac stopped my indigestion and set my stomach in order and I have had no more of those awful feelings about my heart since, although that was seven years ago. Since that time I have always been a friend of Tanlac. I take it in the spring time and my health has remained good. Tanlac did what nothing else would and I always will praise it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Peter Newhall, Augusta, Ga., flees to Alaska, after being told by Ivan Ishmin, Russian violinist, he has drowned Paul Sarichef, Ishmin's secretary. Ishmin and Peter's wife, Dorothy, had urged him to go to South America. He joins Big Chris Larson in response to a distress signal at sea, giving Larson his sea jacket. Their launch is wrecked. Peter's body is buried as Newhall's. Peter, rescued, finds injuries have completely changed his appearance. Dorothy and Ishmin go to Alaska to return Peter's body. They do not recognize Peter in their guide. A storm strands them at the grave. "Change name," a message from Peter, telling her to accept Ishmin's marriage proposal. Upon Ishmin's return from a trip for supplies, he and Dorothy are married by a native priest. Peter goes to give them best wishes.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The girl spoke sharply in the silence. "Peter Newhall, my dead husband," she answered in evident awe.

"That word came from beyond the grave," Peter went on solemnly. He was partly acting in sympathy now—and partly in a deliberate attempt to take advantage of Ivan's Asiatic superstitions. "Peter Newhall that was your husband is dead, but his ghost has been here all the time—both of you know it." The girl's eyes flamed with tears, and she nodded. "Ivan, the ghost of Peter Newhall is guarding this girl still. It will guard her clear to the end—I'm not a medium, as Joe is, yet I know that as well as I know anything. You can take my word for gospel. Worship her and thank God for her and be kind to her—and your soul will be saved. But at the first wickedness of which you are so easily capable—the ghost of Peter Newhall will hound you to your destruction!"

Ivan stared like a stricken man. Pete took a long-drawn breath, then turned to Dorothy. "I want you to remember, too," he told her gently, his eyes fixed on hers. "The ghost of your husband is watching over you—believe me, because it's true! If you ever need him, he will be there to help you. If you ever need me—your guide that is more than a guide—I will come, no matter how many seas I have to cross. All you have to do is to send for me."

To Dorothy, it was like an unearthly dream. She knew, with a sure knowledge that this man meant exactly what he said; and she had experienced a new sense of security and peace that could never wholly pass away. Already this seer was turning to go. His trembling hand was at the flap of the tent.

He seemed to be listening. As she watched, fascinated, she saw the reptile leave his face, and a look of common earthly interest take its place. He bent his head, straining; then turned to Ivan.

"It's the squaw, I guess," he said. "She's already come with the supplies."

They heard dragging steps; then the crackle of dead twigs that were strewn about the camp fire. Some one with a heavy load halted just outside the flap of the tent.

Pete drew aside the flap, and the candle light streamed out into the gloom. It was not an Indian squaw who had brought this backload of supplies from across the Peninsula. The black-bearded, stalwart man who stood without was Paul Sarichef, whom Peter Newhall had supposedly drowned in the Savannah River years before.

CHAPTER XVIII Sarichef Appears

THERE could not be the least doubt of Sarichef's identity. All three actors in the drama knew him at the first glance, with certain recognition not to be mistaken. His clothes were rough and worn, but physically he was unchanged since Pete had last seen him on the launch on the Savannah. That fatal night! The thought was infinitelyironical. Here, in the flesh, stood the man of whose murder he had believed himself guilty and for which he had so dearly paid.

There was one instant of bewildered groping in the dark, and then Peter knew the truth. He had simply been the victim of a cruel, relentless, criminal mind.

Ivan, loving Dorothy with his Oriental ardor, had schemed to win her away from her husband; and he had known no law but his own. That he should have neither scruples nor mercy was wholly in character; he was a strong, profound, relentless man, and he had never been one to be swayed from his purpose. He had coveted Dorothy with an unholy fire, his genius demanded to prey upon her, and when a drunken quarrel aboard the launch on the Savannah River had given him his opportunity, he had been remorseless in taking advantage of it. Sarichef had been told to disappear; Ivan had contrived the wicked lie that had been Peter's downfall. When Peter had wakened from drunken slumber he had been easy to convince that he had actually committed the crime that Ivan swore he had seen. Pete's only amazement was that this remorseless man had stopped where he did; that Sarichef had not actually been slain to add plausibility to his story, or he himself—by cunning, deliberate, carefully covered murder—wiped from his rival's path.

The flood of vengeful rage that might have been expected did not at once sweep over Pete, partly because the drama of the moment carried him above it, partly from sheer amazement at this incredible, unexpected visitation. He felt oddly cool, capable of deliberate thought. The moment was inordinately vivid, rather than dreamy; his realities still endured—the clouds that hid the stars, the camp fire glowing dully, the wide bed of straw at his feet and the caribou flesh drying behind the camp stove. The moan of the sea carried through the moment, unbroken; and the wind still yelled and blustered, flapping the canvas with maniacal frenzy without an instant's cessation. After one great start which seemed to be wholly internal—one single, violent impulse throughout the strong tree of his nervous system that showed not at all in his face or frame—all his powers seemed to rally, vouchsafing him not only perfect self-control, but a certain penetrative, infallible quality of thought. Outwardly this was Dorothy and Ivan's drama solely; neither in look nor word did he give any sign that he recognized Sarichef. Such action might immediately reveal his own identity. To Dorothy the sight of that startled face that she recognized instantly as that of her husband's supposed victim was like a shattering flint at her breast. Her throat froze and she could not cry out; but instead of dullness and insensibility, a white light of super-consciousness seemed to pervade the scene; to her also the whole truth became vividly, cruelly manifest, and she was acutely sensitive, why Ivan had directed him south, clearing the way and guaranteeing for his concealment in the Brazilian fastnesses; he had known that Sarichef had gone north and he had wanted to guard against a possible meeting of the two men. She understood why he had been so moved and stirred, like a man who has just come safely through an unseen danger, when he had got the word that Peter had died in the North rather than the South, and why he had opposed so bitterly and earnestly her own venture into the North in search of her husband's body; he had feared that she might encounter and identify Sarichef. Over and above the fact of this present meeting, it was justifiable fear. The North has but a comparatively small white population, and they all cross trails sooner or later, particularly in this great barren end of Alaska that was such a refuge for missing men. He likely knew that Sarichef was located somewhere in this immediate vicinity—probably on the other side of the peninsula—and therefore he had insisted on going himself on the expedition after supplies, rather than send one of the guides who might, not guessing the truth, encounter Sarichef, enlist his aid in his employer's behalf, and bring him back as one of a rescue party to the camp.

Her husband had been wronged and, she believed, indirectly done to death! He had been the victim of a wicked, deliberate plot of which she herself had been an unsuspecting instrument. Her remorse had been poignant before, but now it swept over her like the sea.

The cruel futility of it all, the torturing sense of bootless loss seemed more than she could bear.

Ivan's expression hardly changed. His face twitched once; and it might have been that a mirthless, ironic half-smile hovered for an instant at his closely pressed lips. He walked more fully into the firelight, uttered one grim, subdued oath, then leered at his late secretary in contempt. It was not that he failed to recognize what this sudden coming meant to him and his. He knew that, except by Dorothy's loyalty to him, he could never go back to the civilized world again. He had risked everything, and he was done for, if the truth ever came out; he had gone on record in the Georgia courts as saying that he had seen Peter Newhall throw this man into the river and that he had seen him go down for the third time. He would be ruined socially and professionally, and in all probability the law itself would seize him. Fortunately Dorothy was his wife. Surely he would have vital need of her loyalty.

Himself, Dorothy, and Sarichef were now grouped about the fire; and Pete stolidly piled on fresh fuel. The flame mounted higher, crackling, and the head guide retired into the shadows just without the circle of weird, ruddy firelight. Then he stood waiting, forgotten and unseen.

"You fool!" Ivan began contemptuously to Sarichef. "What are you doing here? Blackmail, I suppose man's blank face showed he was utterly baffled. He seemed to be fearing a blow. "I don't know—I can't explain—"

BUILDING COST SLASH SAVING BOARD $6732

How the Santa Ana board of education saved $6732 in the construction of the new Roosevelt school on East First street through recent slashes in building material prices was disclosed here today by F. H. Eley, the board's architect, who drew plans for the school.

At the same time, Eley stated that actual construction on the new building will be begun within the next month in order that it may be completed as soon as possible after the opening of school in September. Classes will be held in the old structure, which will be moved back from the front part of the lot, until the new building is completed, Eley said.

The contract for the construction of the school was let to Simpson and company, Los Angeles firm, on its bid of $77,970, and that for the heating system to Ehlen and Deltrich, of Orange, on their bid of $5,298.

Architect Eley's estimate of the cost of the building was $90,000, exactly $6732 more than it actually will cost taxpayers here. Eley attributed the saving to the cut in building materials, put in effect since plans were drawn. "The McKinley school, built last year at a cost of $55,000, called for only four rooms and a kindergarten," Eley said. "The Roosevelt building will contain ten rooms, with a kindergarten. Thus, it will be more than twice as large but will cost the board of education far from twice as much."

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Jones were Fullerton visitors Wednesday. Myron West of Yorba Linda called on Miss Elizabeth Berkeley Wednesday evening.

Mrs. C. W. Girvin is looking forward to the visit of her brother-in-law, Mr. Alfred Schmitz, who will arrive from Germany soon.

Mr. C. W. Girvin was a business visitor in Los Angeles yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Owens and family who have been living in the Schoolhouse house opposite the grammar school have moved to Compton.

Mr. L. J. Robeson and William Schumacher were Fullerton visitors Wednesday.

Talbert

TALBERT, June 26.—On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harper and son, Jack, of this place, Mrs. Harper's mother, Mrs. Lena Patterson and her aunt, Miss Cora Embree of Santa Ana formed a picnic party at Orange county park Sunday. A picnic dinner formed a part of the pleasures of the day which was spent celebrating the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Patterson which occurred the following Tuesday, June 19. On her birthday, Mrs. Harper motored to town for her and Miss Embree and taking a freezer of delicious home-made ice cream and a birthday cake of angel food went to Westminster where they spent the afternoon with Mrs. Adella L. Blakey, whose natal day it was also.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Gilbert, daughters Alpha, Lola, Deda and Florine and sons, William and Doyle were at Long Beach Sunday in attendance at the closing service of the five day convention held at the First Nazarene church of this city.

A party composed of Miss Alpha Gilbert, Miss Deda Gilbert, their cousin, Edwin Hathaway of Huntington Beach, Miss Frances Chandler and Wesley Wallace, the latter of Santa Ana formed a motor party to Riverside recently where they had picnic dinner. Returning they stopped over at Orange county park where they spent the evening, having their suppers with them.

Mrs. Mary Bushard and Joe Kagerer of Los Angeles were overnight guests Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Bushard's son, W. W. Bushard and family. The visitors returned home Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Burley are building.

MRS. DAVIS RECOVERS
STRENGTH

The following statement contained in a letter from Mrs. Alice Davis of Jamestown, N. Y., should bring hope to other women who are in the same condition she was. She says, "I was nervous and weak with pains in my back, no ambition, and utterly discouraged, and could not sit up all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength so I can now do all the work."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is pre-eminently successful in overcoming such troubles and it will pay any suffering woman to try it.

Miss Frances Chandler who is ill with scarlet fever was reported as better at the last word from her home where she is under quarantine.

Jack Gardner enjoyed an airplane ride at Keso field near Westminster one day recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson and family who left Talbert recently for Pasadena are contemplating going to Fresno to locate. They have relatives living at that place.

Mrs. Carter son, Earl and the latter's baby of Long Beach were Monday visitors with relatives here. Mrs. Carter is a sister of Mrs. G. E. Talbert and Mrs. B. Rogers and a daughter of Mrs. M. L. Thurman.

J. W. Shrode, a brother of Mrs. M. L. Thurman with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shrode and son of Anaheim and some relatives of Mrs. Shrode's spent Sunday evening at the S. E. Talbert home.

A number of Talbert people attended graduation at the Huntington Beach high school.

Violet Rogers who has been having the measles is now nearly recovered.

The three Bartol brothers, Cliff, Robert and George left at 3:30 Monday morning on a motor trip to their old home in Oregon. On Sunday their mother, Mrs. Tinker, gave a family dinner at which all were present and in the afternoon their aunt, Mrs. Asa Hadley and family of Smeltzer joined the party. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were then enjoyed by the party.

The unoccupied store room in the S. E. Talbert building is being finished off preparatory for occupation by Mr. Vallan, a Portuguese, who is a former Talbert resident. Vallan occupied one of the store rooms in the Talbert building which was burned last winter. He has since that time been at Imperial. He is to take possession here and open his store some time this week.

Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Gardner and son, Jack spent Monday and Tuesday at Santa Monica where they visited at the home of an aunt of Mrs. Gardner's.

Miss Mildred Swift, who two weeks ago went to Long Beach to take up millinery, is liking the work very much.

Opal Cline spent Sunday at Smeltzer visiting Doris Hadley and on Wednesday she entertained Doris at her home. In the afternoon Doris' mother, Mrs. Harrison Hadley visited with Mrs. Cline.

S. E. Talbert has sub-rented a strip of land on the Huntington Beach mesa for an aviation field to the Messrs. Kelso, who have had a field located near Westminster for some months. The Kelso's will take possession of the new field this week and will continue teaching pupils to fly and will also take up passengers.

The S. E. Talbert crew which is employed on the coast highway toward Newport are hauling the dirt excavated at Bitter point to the river where fills are being made. Two yard dump cars are being used on the miniature railway, thirty of the cars being in use. The fill is being made at the river crossing.

TALBERT, June 27.—The Rev. George M. Gardner left on Thursday morning for the north where he will remain on vacation until the 13th of July. Corning, the former home of the family will be his headquarters while away and he will visit also at Sacramento and San Francisco, at the former of which place a daughter is located and at the latter a son and daughter.

While away from his pastorate, which includes the churches of Greenville circuit, Greenville, Bolso and Talbert Rev. Gardner has left Rev. B. L. Glazier as pastor in charge.

The Rev. Mr. Glazier will have the Greenville church exclusively for the time, the Rev. Mr. Moody of Garden Grove will be in charge at Bolso and appointments for the Talbert church services for the four weeks as follows: First Sunday, Rev. Mr. Sheffield of Los Angeles; 2nd Sunday, Rev. B. L. Glazier of Santa Ana; 3rd Sunday, Rev. Mr. McGeehee of Talbert; 4th Sunday, Rev. Mr. Moody of Garden Grove.

Members of the Gislis family and a few of their friends enjoyed Sunday picnicking at Orange county park. Dinner at noon, a baseball game, dancing and another picnic lunch in the evening occupied the pleasant day. Those in the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Stodde and son, Bernard Jr., of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harper of Long Beach, Julius Gislis, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gislis of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gislis and son, the Misses Agnes and Lucille Gislis, Tom and Harold Gislis of Talbert, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Enhall and two children and Harold Fallon of Norwalk, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thornblower of Irvine, Miss Ann Gislis of Santa Ana, Miss Filotea Crane of Smeltzer.

Antone, Allan and Ernest Gislis of Santa Ana, Robert Marshall, Miss Eleanor Duhart of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Callens joined the party in the evening in time to enjoy the evening meal with them. A most enjoyable time was spent by all.

Mrs. S. E. Talbert, Mrs. G. M. Gardner of Talbert and Mrs. May Clarkson of Greenville attended a missionary conference in Los Angeles Friday as delegates from the Missionary society of the Greenville circuit. They enjoyed the splendid service and the big dinner served the delegates very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Landin and baby of Los Angeles were entertained as guests for the day recently at the home of Mrs. Landin's sister, Mrs. Henry Lacabanne.

Fred Gates of Huntington Beach, uncle of Mrs. D. C. Gilbert and a cousin, Edwin Hathaway, were Monday visitors at the Gilbert home.

Miss Ruth Harper returned Sunday from Norwalk where she spent five days as the guest of the Lons Smith family, former residents of this place.

TALBERT, June 27.—Mrs. G. M. Gardner received a card Monday from her husband, Rev. George M. Gardner who left here the previous Thursday for the northern part of the state telling of his safe arrival at his destination. The card was written at Arbuckle where he went to call upon Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Bookman, the latter of whom was pastor here last year. Rev. Gardner was disappointed at not seeing the Bookmans, they being from home that day.

Monday of this week Mrs. Bookman and the girls, Catherine and Gladys, and Mrs. Bookman's mother, Mrs. Grissold, who is visiting them left Arbuckle for the college at Mount Shasta where Mrs. Bookman is taking a six weeks' course. They with several others are occupying cabins near the normal campus for the time. Mrs. Bookman has successfully passed the county examination for teachers and has secured a rural school for the coming term.

Rev. Mr. Bookman and son, Glenwoda, are away at preachers' institute and Epworth League assembly.

The church at Arbuckle of which Rev. Bookman is pastor is doing quite well and the work, they report, is moving along steadily in spite of the fact that so many are away on vacation for the summer months.

Rev. Gardner has, beside visiting at Arbuckle, been to Lincoln, his former pastorate before taking up the local work last fall, and before his return will go to Corning, where the family home is located and to San Francisco and Sacramento where two daughters and son reside.

Two parties of locally well known people, the Roberts and Samuel Gislis and Antone and Frank Borchards, who are traveling in the Old World, met in historic Rome, May 24, according to the latest word received by relatives here. The card was written from that city while they were together and Pais was to be their next objective upon leaving Italy. The Gislis were then returning to Switzerland and later in the summer all will again join their fortunes on the homeward trip.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Talbert had as dinner guests at their home on Sunday the latter's cousin, Tom Boyd; son, Joy and Leo, and a young lady friend of the latter from Gardena and Miss Dorothy Rogers, niece of Mrs. Talbert.

Mr. Boyd and sons, Joy and Glenn, left this week on a five weeks motor trip which will take them as far north as Seattle, Washington. At Oakland the party will be joined by one of Mr. Boyd's sisters who resides there and they, together, will enjoy a reunion with the two other sisters at Seattle.

Wesley Wallace of Santa Ana spent from Thursday until Sunday visiting William and Doyle Gilbert.

Construction of roads at Fountain Valley Farms, Talbert's latest subdivision, continues, but work is not yet far enough advanced to have the opening.

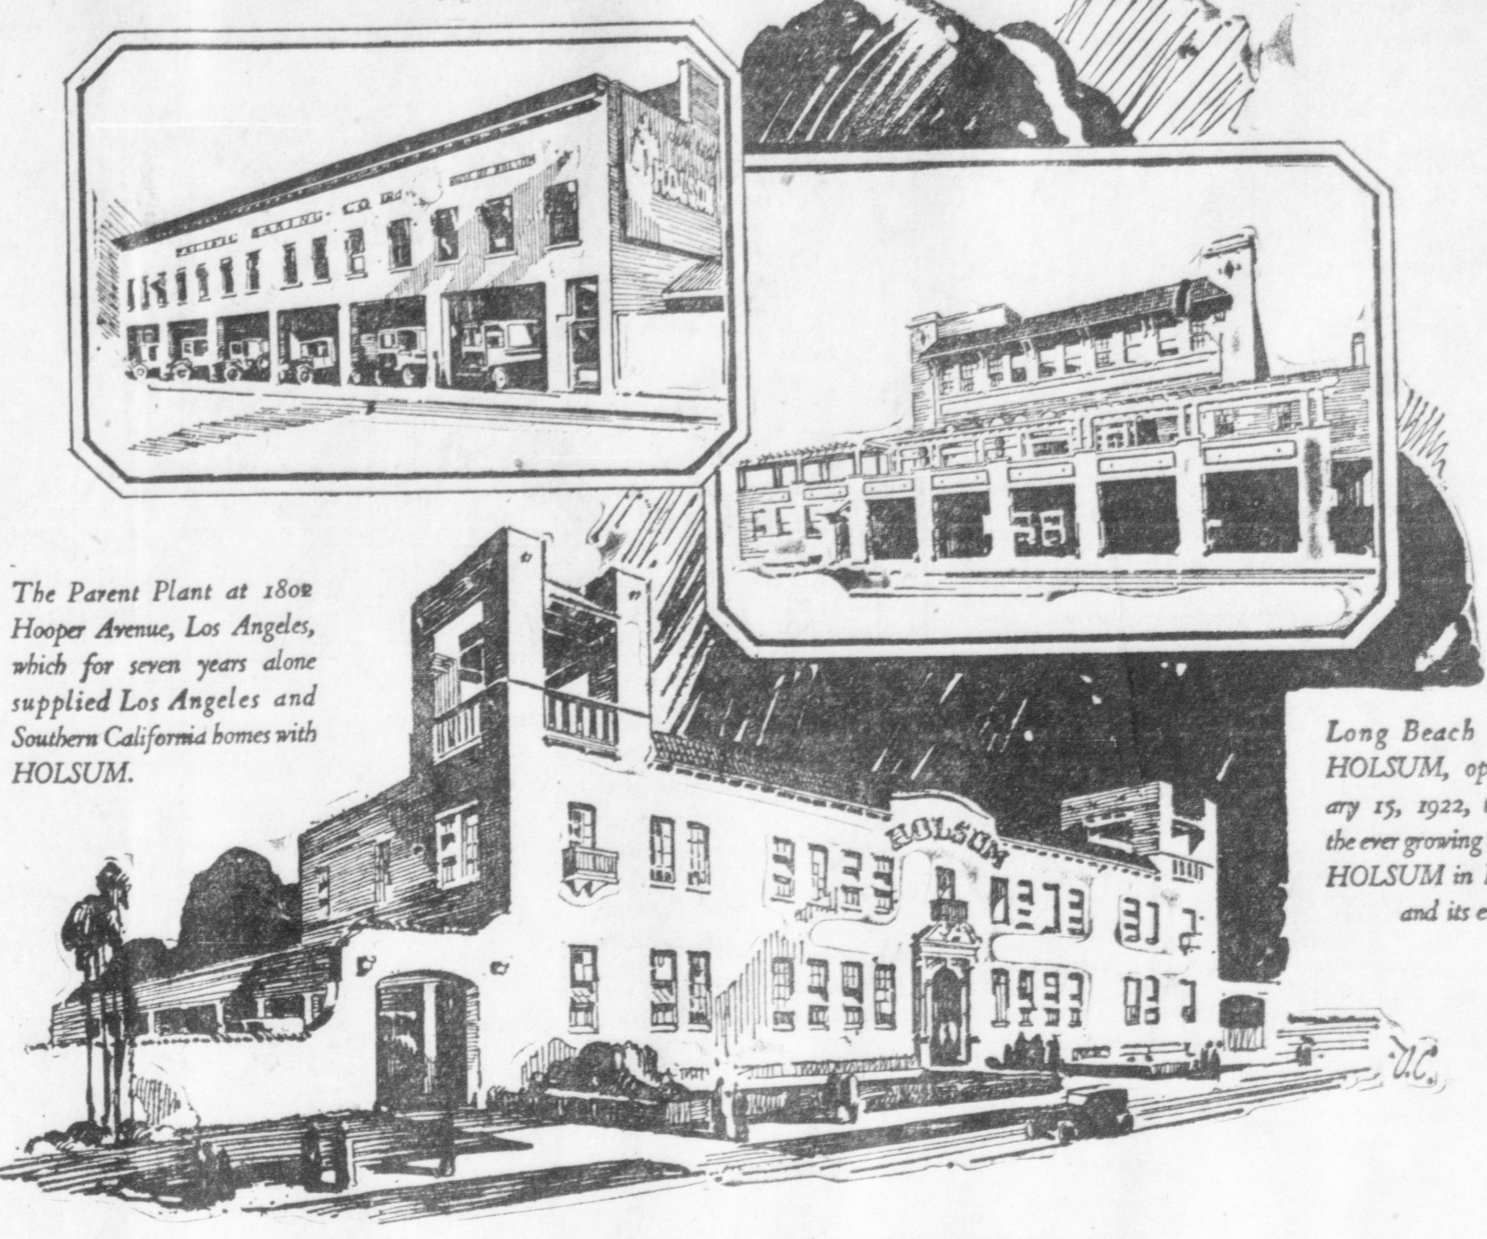

The Rev. Mr. Sheffield of Los Angeles occupied the pulpit of the local church Sunday evening and preached to a well filled house.

Edwin Hathaway, who is a cousin of Mrs. D. C. Gilbert and a recent arrival from New York, came over from Huntington Beach Friday morning, remaining until Saturday evening at the Gilbert home.

Jack Gardner took up the duties of clerk at the Parsons and Parsons store Monday where he will work during vacation.

A PUZZLE A DAY

There is a number of six figures, the first two figures being 2 and 8. If the first two figures (28) are moved to the right end of the row, a new number will be formed, which is twice as great as the original.

Can you fill in the missing figures?

Yesterday's answer:

By moving the three bars (indicated by the dotted lines) to the positions 1, 2, 3, the farmer formed four pens instead of five, and utilized all the bars.

INSIST ON "RADIOCASTING"

It will be a blow to radio fans to learn that the manufacturers of radio supplies have officially abandoned "broadcasting." The proper term, they insist, is "radio-casting," which they intend to use hereafter.

They were led to make this verbal change by the report of a committee which, searching a dictionary, found "broadcasting" defined as "having to do with the sowing of seed of material substance." Radio waves, they say, are not "material substance," and so the term doesn't fit.

Well, "radio-casting" is probably a good enough word, when you get used to it, provided they don't start saying "radio-cast." But it seems a pity. "Broadcasting" is shorter and handier, and has been a familiar word for several hundred years, and really means something to everybody. There is in it the picturesque figure of the farmer sowing grain. It adds to the understanding of radio itself to picture the sender as reaching his hand into the entertainment bag and scattering seeds of music, oratory, etc., to the four winds.

Also, these dictionary-probers may be altogether wrong in their understanding of radio. Scientists mostly regard the ether of space as a material thing, and electric currents themselves as material—made up of electrons. If that is so, then the radio vibrations are as material as water waves, and therefore radio "has to do with the sowing of material substance" as much as the farmer's sowing.

Most of the German officials are doctors of something or other; but history and experience suggest that it is neither of diplomacy nor of divinity. —Birmingham Age-Herald.

OUR FUTURE IN OIL

Orange county, long one of the foremost oil producing counties of California, will keep its place for many years to come. That is the opinion of oil experts. A survey of the situation indicates that the oil fields of the county are of a steady, stable variety, not of the kind that soon "shoots its wad."

The Huntington Beach field is instanced as a field that can be counted upon to remain upon the oil map. It is producing around $50,000 a day in oil now, and there is no reason to expect the value of the production to decrease.

A period will come when the price of oil will go up to such an extent that prospecting for oil in this county will be carried on more extensively than ever before. Even during the depression, scouting in this county and the prospecting that we call wildcatting has been going on. Several wells are now being drilled, any one of which may bring a new field into life.

Reports coming from the Newport mesa have been very encouraging. With wildcat wells going down in three directions from Orange, there is a prospect that Orange within a few months will be numbered among the oil cities of the state.

Who can tell? Oil, like gold, is where you find it. Much oil has been found in Orange county, and it is a safe bet that it has not all been corralled.

Our eggs, however, are not all in one basket. While we may extend our oil territory, we will keep right on growing oranges, lemons, walnuts, beans, sugar beets, chili peppers and the various other products that are worth more than oil to us, as a county.

Congressmen complain they can't live on their salaries. This is just the reason why the public objects to having the salaries of some Congressmen raised.—Wall Street Journal.

A FASHION SHOW-DOWN

Drawn battle between French and American dictators of women's fashions is foretold by one of the latter group. Paris style creators have precipitated the conflict by announcing the return of the wasp waist. The American faction laughs heartily and says it won't work at all. It will be hotly resented by American women and, the inference is, will be severely let alone by them. Says the creator of the natural silhouette costume:

"This is the greatest mistake that the French masters have ever made. It will be a boomerang."

Even a thoroughly patriotic American, however, views the approaching conflict with some misgivings. Fashion decrees in the past have upset many a firm decision to remain sensible and comfortable. Revolt against the style autocrats has come very slowly and has not yet been proved revolution rather than rebellion.

"I'll never go back to wearing my hair long," says firmly the American woman who has bobbed her hair. But we are wondering if she is saving her shorn tresses for use as a switch in case bobbed hair goes out of style.

However, there is one thing that ought to keep the wasp waist out of the United States. A wise and wily American modiste has used honeyed words to win his point. He says: "Such an assumption on the part of such masters is nothing short of the most stupid and uncalled-for insult to the wonderful profile of the modern American woman. That which is naturally perfect in itself should be respected as such."

The Biblical character who asked for bread and was given a stone has a modern counterpart in the veteran who asked for a bonus and was given an insurance policy.—Nashville Southern Lumberman.

THE THREE I HANDICAPS

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, at a recent Good Citizenship luncheon, stated that there are today "four immediate issues that 90 per cent of the membership of women's organizations are supporting: the Federal Educational bill, the Child Labor Amendment, the enforcement of law and the peace of the world."

"Our handicaps," she said, "are the problems of the three I's—indifference, ignorance and inefficiency, and the greatest of these is ignorance."

There are men who are supporting the "four immediate issues," too, and who are combating with vigorous idealism the bad elements of post-war psychology. But Mrs. Catt, because she has long been a leader of women, and because she was addressing a group of women, stressed only their responsibility in this work, urging them to draw together for inspiration for themselves and for the whole nation.

It is only too easy to become indifferent, and the struggle to overcome ignorance is a long, slow one, calling for considerable amounts of faith and courage. Efficiency is likely to come in as indifference and ignorance go out, but not much before.

Cultivation of the three R's, plus character development, will help to uproot the three I's. When this is accomplished there will be a great deal more hope of the enforcement of law and the maintenance of peace.

What Colleges Expect

—Stockton Independent.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur in his commencement address at Stanford University yesterday told the graduates what their alma mater expected of them, he said:

This university expects you to fit into the world outside, to serve as a center of clear and decent thought, to face facts, to press prejudices and to meet, without fear or faltering, the years of trial and service just ahead.

It is fine, verile advice and deserving of a broader application. Not only has the university the right to expect this mental and moral attitude toward life, but the state has. And it is an attitude that by no means need be the exclusive property of college graduates. It should be the normal attitude of intelligence.

There has been much loose criticism of modern education as being concerned wholly with the material. Dr. Wilbur recognizes that education that does not inculcate ideals and is not founded on personal and social ethics is barren. Also it is noteworthy that the head of a great university, himself an authority on biology, does not subscribe to the idea that heredity is everything—an easy explanation for things worth while or a convenient alibi for evil. As a scientist he upholds the doctrine of personal responsibility. Science and religion are at one.

True religion has found a great and permanent ally in science. We are more and more realizing that our judgment of man must not be based on origin, race, religion, economic position, family or assertion, but "By their fruits ye shall know them," or, as one of our American philosophers has said: "By their fruits, not by their roots, shall ye know them."

And life, what does it mean? This, according to Dr. Wilbur, and it would be hard to find a better definition.

Life means movement and advance. Life should mean for you more advance, more work, more help for others. Give your own individuality scope for growth, but not as a thorn. When the crowd calls "forward," pull back. Crowd thought is primitive, harsh, emotional and rarely spiritual.

When you hear some violent criticism of the materialistic character of higher education and of our university system in general, it would be a good idea for the sake of mental equilibrium to read the commencement addresses of a few of the distinguished heads of our colleges—these embody an epitome of what the colleges stand for and seek to implant in plastic and fertile minds—and it is not materialism.

Need the Dam—Need Swing

—San Bernardino Sun.

Congressman Phil P. Swing arrived home from Washington yesterday, bringing with him written statements from the chairman and other members of the committee which presided at the Boulder Canyon Dam hearings on Mr. Swing's important bill. These letters are optimistic and indicate the bill will be favorably reported early in the next session. Tomorrow night at El Centro the people of Imperial county will appeal to the remainder of the district to reelect Mr. Swing, and with power rationing going into effect throughout Southern California, the importance of Mr. Swing's principal congressional work—the Boulder Canyon Dam project—takes on even a greater significance for the entire southland.

Southern California needs the Boulder Dam. The very future prosperity of the region is wrapped up in it, and voters of the Eleventh Congressional district will not be blind enough to take Mr. Swing's seat. He knows more about the Boulder Canyon Dam project than anyone in Washington. His has been a hard fight and when it is realized the project exceeds, in potential results for humanity, the magnitude of the Panama canal, we do not wonder that the deliberations have been long. The canal wasn't built in one or two congressional sessions.—San Bernardino Sun.

That Body of Yours

—By James W. Barton, M. D.

—BRAIN AND INSTINCT

A well-known swimming instructor always started his lesson to beginners by saying, "Every animal can swim naturally except a man. He would like to swim naturally if he would simply go ahead, and swim as does the fish. An animal goes into the water and moves its legs forward and backward as in the act of walking, and the result is that it 'swims' upon the surface of the water."

The trouble with man is that he has a brain, and the brain tells him that he was meant to stay on the dry land, that he is not a fish. In former articles I have spoken of how an animal always stretches itself when it rises from lying down. Also that when it was "sick" it would abstain entirely from eating for a day or two.

There is just another point about the animal that I think it would be wise for man to imitate and that is his habit of resting after eating. You have seen how the animal will lie down and go off into a sound sleep immediately after having its meal. I have hesitated to give this advice, because I've been afraid that perhaps some of my readers might follow this idea too well.

Now, what is the point about this rest after meals? Well, there is a certain amount of work to be done as soon as the food is in the stomach.

The walls of the stomach, which are muscular, start to work, and that takes extra blood and energy. Then gastric or stomach juice has to be made, and it in turn begins by chemical action to change the food into such a condition that it will be ready to have further work done on it in the small intestine. This likewise requires extra blood and nervous energy.

You can thus see that for a few minutes after a meal, it would be just as well to let that body of yours have its own natural way in its endeavor to get digestion well started.

This does not mean that you should sit around for the two to four hours that is required to complete stomach digestion. But it does mean that you should sit down, as I said above, and give it a good start.

With all this blood required around the stomach, you can understand why your brain will not feel very active and you'll feel like having a short nap. If you can get this short nap of five to fifteen minutes it should be of help to you.

This likewise enables you to realize why it is rather difficult to do hard mental work early in the afternoon, if your mid-day lunch has been really a big dinner. If you are a high-strung, nervous individual, it might be wise for you to rest five minutes before you eat.

Now to Select the Right ClubBOYHOOD

Ah! then how sweetly closed those crowded days.

The minutes parting one by one like rays,

That fade upon a summer's eve.

But oh! what charm, or magic numbers

Can give me back the gentle slumbers

Those weary, happy days did leave?

When by my bed I saw my mother kneel,

And with her blessing took her nightly kiss;

Whatever time destroys, he cannot this—

E'en now that nameless kiss I feel.

Into Larger World

—San Francisco Chronicle.

Ralph Hopping was a mountain farmer at Three Rivers on the Kaweah in Tulare county. He had a brain needing more occupation than watching the hogs scout for acorns. Insects interested him, particularly beetles. He began to watch them and their ways. To know more about insects and beetles he got the books and studied them. But, most of all, he studied the beetles themselves.

As time passed, it began to be noised abroad that there was a man in the canyon of the Kaweah who knew a lot about beetles. The Forest Service, much troubled by the damage done to trees by certain beetles, called for Ralph Hopping. He entered the service and rose in it until he became a forest examiner. He never ceased to learn more about the insects of the forest.

Now, in a directory of naturalists of the United States and Canada, just from the press, we read that Ralph Hopping is the Dominion forest entomologist for British Columbia. And he is known to scientists as one of the chief authorities on beetles.

Ralph Hopping's world at Three Rivers was a very small one. But he was able to make it as large as he pleased, even though it was by following the trail of so small a creature as a beetle.

Worth While Verse

—SUN AND CLOUDS

Full many a glorious morning have I seen

Flatter the mountain-tops with sovereign eye,

Kissing with golden face the meadows green,

Gilding pale streams with heavenly alchemy.

Anon permit the basest clouds to ride

With ugly rack on his celestial face,

And from the forlorn world his visage hide,

Stealing unseen to west with this disgrace;

Even so our sun one early morn did shine

With all-triumphant splendor on my brow:

But out, alack! he was but one hour mine.

The region cloud hath masked him from me now.

Yet him for this my love no whit disdaineth;

Sun of the world may stain when heaven's sun staineth.

Little Benny's Note Book

—by Lee Pope

Sunday afternoon I started to wawk past Mary Watkins house jest for fun, and I thawt I would ring the bell and see if she was in, jest for fun. Wich I did, and her mother came to the door saying, How do you do, Benny, Mary is taking a wawk with Persey Weever.

She is? I sed feeling diskusted, and Mrs. Watkins sed, Yes, Persey came past taking Mrs. Sprockets dog Tiddelywinks a wawk, so Mary decided to take a wawk with both of them.

Me thinking, Heck, And jest then I had a good idee, and I started to wawk till I saw Persey Weever and Mary Watkins wawking with Tiddelywinks, a looking little long hair dog with a turn up face, me saying, Hay Persey, your mother wunts you, she wunts you important.

I better run home and see wat she wunts, Persey sed. Me thinking, Herray, and Persey stuck something in my hand, being the chain with Tiddelywinks on the other end, saying, Hold this dog till I come back, will you?

And he started to run home, me thinking, Aw heck. On account of Tiddelywinks being such a fearse looking dog to be holding, and jest then Mary Watkins sed, Goodnites, I haff to go home too, Maud Jonsin sed she was coming around. And she quick wawked away leaving me there all alone holding 'tiddelywinks, me thinking, A good nite, wat the dooce, And in a little while about 5 of the fellows came up, starting to laff like anything and saying, Well look who's heer, look who's got Persey Weever's job taking Tiddelywinks for a wawk every day for 5 cents.

I have not, you're crazy, you're dippy, I have not, Im jest doing this for a favor, I sed.

I wouldnt be saw with that mutt for a favor to the president of the world, Leroy Shoostar sed, and all the other fellows started to say wat they would drather do than be saw holding Tiddelywinks, and I sed, Aw heck, Im going to tie him to a tree and leave him there, wat do I care, Ill show you.

And I tied the other end of the chain to a small size tree and kept on going with the fellows.

When Johnny Jump Up and the Twins scrambled down the rose vine into the magic garden, the next night, a new flower had grown there.

It looked like a water lily, and grew like a water lily—in the gold fish pool.

"It's a lotus flower," whispered Johnny Jump Up, "and the fairy who lives in it is an Egyptian fairy."

"Good evening," said the little fairy in the lotus flower. "I've been waiting for you. You are to go to Egypt tonight and as it is so much to go, you had better be starting at once."

She handed three tickets to Johnny Jump Up, who thanked her very kindly.

Tommy Timmouse hopped up and punched the tickets with his bill. Nancy and Nick and Johnny Jump Up got on and away they flew.

They crossed the ocean and a desert as big as an ocean only with sand instead of water, and soon they came to Egypt.

Tommy Timmouse settled down on a palm tree to rest.

"My, it's hot!" said Nancy. "Yes, Egypt is a warm country," said Johnny Jump Up. "While we are resting, I'll tell you a little about it. Soon we will come to a lake, it is called the Nile and it is the longest river in the world. There is no water in Egypt except along the Nile River, so all the people live there. Egypt is thousands of miles long, but only a few miles wide. It is like a long ribbon."

Says Independence of Congress Must Be Held

—From Republican Publicity Association, Washington, D. C.

Those hysterical individuals who want the President of the United States to go after Congress with a "Big Stick" and impose his will upon the legislative branch of the Government, lose sight of the fundamental principles upon which this nation was founded, and also overlook some very definite statements of policy Mr. Coolidge has made in the past. When he was a candidate for vice-president in 1920, and presumably viewing our system of Government from the standpoint of an executive, as he was then Governor of Massachusetts, he said in an address at Manchester, New Hampshire:

"The independence of the Congress must be preserved. It is not the fortune of legislatures to be popular. They do not catch the public fancy. Being human, they may err. But no legislature ever usurped the liberties of a country, and no country ever lost its liberties until its legislative representatives had been stripped of their independence and their power. The sole defender of the liberties of the Nation by the only effective means for their preservation, an independent Congress, now left to the American people, is the Republican party."

In a subsequent address during the same campaign, at Middleboro, Kentucky, he expressed much the same sentiment in other words when he said:

"Conscious of our great heritage, aware of our grave duties, determined to preserve our liberties, we insist that our government shall hold fast to the provisions of our Constitution. Therein is our faith. We demand that it shall express our combined will and promote our real ideals. We demand that it shall function as it was designed to function, its three coordinate branches moving within their respective orbits as defined by the Constitution, free from invasion by one into the power and the authority of the other, and each and all responsible only to the people. We demand that it shall be a government of equal rights and equal justice administered in the interest of the common welfare, that it shall assure equal opportunity, and prevent the creation or development of class or privilege. We demand adherence to these principles of right and justice and selfishness in our relations with other peoples and their co-operation in the working out of the destiny of all humanity. We have been in an era of reaction which has emphasized. Let us so act as to restore righteousness to our administration. Let us at the ballot box assure the return of self-government, the government of liberty and freedom, that our Nation may endure and continue to show forth to a distracted world the virtue, the dignity, the power of a republic."

Mr. Coolidge had previously pointed out in his address that during the war Congress had bestowed almost unlimited power upon the Executive order that emergency conditions might be met promptly. It was not against such emergency powers in time of war that Governor Coolidge was protesting. His argument was aimed against executive dictation over Congress in time of peace.

He acknowledged that, "in such a grievous time freedom to be preserved must submit to autocracy." But he also asserted that:

"As we look back over the past eight years we find the war merely emphasized, not created, the violence done our institutions and our policies. Before the war, as after the war, the Executive intervened directly and indirectly the properly independent functions of the legislative branch of the Government."

In view of those statements of his opinions of a wise as well as constitutional method of procedure in conducting the business of the Government, it would be absurd to expect the President to undertake to establish any sort of dictatorship by any means over Congress.

The Snow Gum

The Australian Snow Gum (Eucalyptus coriacea alpina), raised from seed in 1922 at the Appalachian Forest Experiment Station, has survived its first winter in the open. At the first inspection in May it was reported killed down to the ground, but has since sprouted from the roots and is apparently preparing for vigorous growth this season.

In its native habitat, this eucalypt is credited with enduring a temperature of 16 degrees Fahrenheit. In the region of Asheville, North Carolina, however, where the Experiment Station is located, the coldest temperature during the past winter was 5 degrees below zero, although the average was 23 degrees. The further progress of the Snow Gum will be observed with much interest to determine whether in the next few seasons it will gain in hardiness sufficiently to withstand the climate of the Southern Appalachians. In the opinion of Dendrologist G. B. Sudworth of the Forest Service, the Snow Gum will not be able to maintain itself in a locality where the temperature goes regularly below a minimum of 16 degrees above zero.

Steel and Iron

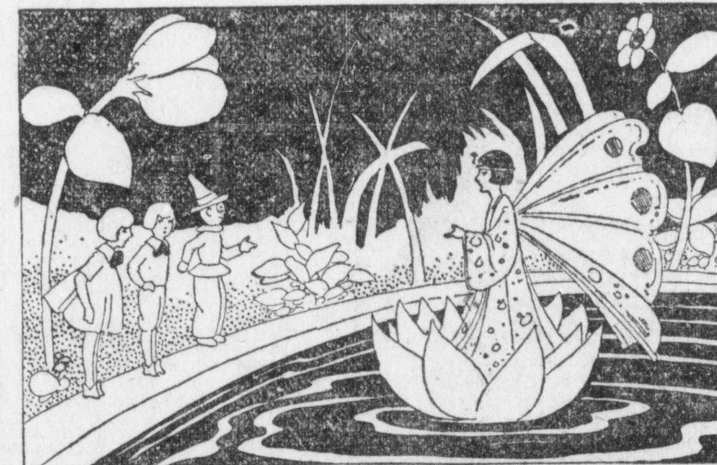

We still live in the age of steel. And this country of ours last year made over three-fifths of the world's pig iron, from which steel is manufactured.

In one recent month Americans made almost as much pig iron as in the entire year 1881.

Pride in country begins with knowledge of its strength and power. In iron and steel, it is plain, we're more important than all the rest of the world combined.
